HARRISBURG, Mar. 2.—Focal point of interest for the past week, the Senate committee investigating Pennsylvania's Public Service Commission today
moved definitely to the center
of the limelight on Capitol Hill
with Governor Gifford Pinchot slated to appear before it this afternoon.

Decision of the Chief Executive
to appear before the probe body and,
in all likelihood, reiterate the charges against the Commission he made during his campaign, was announced Saturday. Previously, the Governor was slated to appear before the Senate body a week ago, but changed his mind and deferred his action.

"When he appears before the investigators this afternoon, Governor Pinchot will not be called upon to answer questions of committee members or of C. J. Hepburn, counselor
for the probe body."

Written Statement
He will present what material he wishes to bring before the probers
in the form of a written statement,
and aside from that, will probably
add little to the mass of testimony
and information which has been laid before the Senate quiz body
during its sessions.

Manner of the appearance of the Governor was determined in a let-

PA NEWS OBSERVES

One of those debatable subjects
if you care to get in an argument:
"Did March come in like a lamb or
a lion?"

Quite a number of New Castle
drivers had to leave the car in the garage yesterday, due to the fact
that their new driver's license card
had not been received.

Local streams have dropped rapidly, during the past week, following
the short rainy spell during the middle of the month. The Shenango river has dropped two feet in the last ten days from the high mark
of seven feet registered week before
last.

Something should be done to head
off the epidemic of serious fires outside the city. Several homes have been destroyed during the past few days. Extra care should be taken to guard against fire in homes in the country districts, due to the lack
of fire protection in these areas.
New Castle firemen have responded
to calls for assistance at these fires,
but due to the lack of water mains,
or adequate water for pumping, little can be done, once a fire has gained real headway.

The latest harbinger of spring is reported by Presley N. Jones, 231 East Lincoln avenue. It is none other than a Robin, which sang its song of love and springtime in the yard

PLAN TO ISSUE $100,000 BONDS FOR IMPROVEMENT

Councilmen today indicated they were willing to bond the city for an additional $100,000 for improvements
this spring. The solicitor has already been requested by Councilman Genkinger to prepare the necessary ordinance. The city at present is bonded for about $960,000, according to Councilman Burns.

When the councilmen convened in council chambers, city hall, Mr.

Genkinger said that he was in favor of $100,000 worth of improvements.
The money will be used for paying, repaving, resurfacing, widening of streets and sewers.

Council discussed the proposal
briefly and indicated their approval and the ordinance may be submitted at the next council session.

Water Company Starts Building New Mains In Sheep Hill District

During the past few days employees of the Water Company have been placing heavy cast iron pipe in
the sheep Hill district preparatory
to starting the laying of approximately one and one-half miles of
pipe in that territory.

These pipe lines are being laid to supply water to about 80 families on Northview avenue, Southview street, Moravia street, Moravia street
extension, Martha street, Byers avenue and portions of Good and Beaver streets.

The whole installation will represent an expenditure of about $12-000.

Where large installations of this kind are made, the Water Company
endeavors to aid the particular community as much as possible, and
following this purpose about 20 of the people who will be employed on the job will be men who live on the streets in which the lines are being laid.

It is expected that the job will require at least six weeks to complete,
and due to the fact that the Sheep
Hill territory is very high up and the high pressure mains of the company do not extend that far, it is necessary to bring the high pressure
lines across from the Morris street
district.

Girl Is Injured In Auto Accident

Miss Margaret Di Thomas In Hospital As Result Of Harlansburg Road
Crash

As a result of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Slippery Rock road on Saturday night about
7:15 o'clock, Miss Margaret Di-
Thomas, age 17, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. J. S. DiThomas of 123 Center street is in a serious condition
in the New Castle hospital.

Louis Bongivengo, age 23, Miss
Pauline DiThomas, age 15, and Miss Margaret DiThomas, were returning
to New Castle following a trip to Slippery Rock College where she is a student. As they reached the point about two miles from Croton
avenue, Bongivengo, the driver, observed a truck as he was just about to hit it. In order to prevent hitting the truck he managed to squeeze his way through the truck
and a bus which was going towards Slippery Rock.

The bus had almost passed the truck when Bongivengo attempted to miss the truck. He failed and the result was that the auto hit the truck. Bongivengo was thrown out of the car but was uninjured. Miss Margaret DiThomas was thrown through the windshield, receiving
serious injuries.

She was removed to the New Castle hospital where the nature of her injuries are undetermined. Pauline DiThomas sustained bruises about
her face. Bongivengo claims the truck was in charge of John R.
Sickafuse of R. F. D. No. 9 and did not bear a tail light which made the truck obscure on the road. The roadster in which the three were riding was completely smashed. The truck was parked according to Mr.
Bongivengo.

Sickafuse was arrested later by Corporal Sarko of the highway
patrol on a charge of parking along
a highway without lights.

Davis Is Appointed Grand Jury Foreman

Ivor V. Davis was appointed foreman of the grand jury when the jury convened this morning for the consideration of cases to be presented by District Attorney, John Powers. There are no murder cases on the list to go before the grand jury. A majority of the cases are for robbery and violation of the liquor laws.

HARRISBURG, Mar. 2.—Pushed
into the background of public interest by the investigation of the Public Service Commission and the public utilities, Pennsylvania's General Assembly will reconvene tonight with prospects of suffering a still further cessation of attention.

On the heels of the Senate probe
of the public service commission,
which was slated today to hold most attention with Governor Pinchot
appearing before the Senate body,
the house prepared to start its own,
and the Governor's approved, investigation into the activities of the commission.

Committee to Meet
Late this afternoon the House Committee will meet for organization and Rep. D. Glenn Moore,
Washington, sponsor of the resolution which created the committee, will be made chairman. In addition,
the Governor is expected to name his three observers, who will sit in with the house body when it begins its hearing Wednesday with an inquiry into the Scranton-
Springbrook water case.

Almost lost in the shuffle, members of the house and senate not on the probe committees prepared to act tonight on the biggest calendar
yet laid before the legislature.

In the House, 29 bills were on first reading, half a score on second reading and 7 were ready for final passage. In the Senate, 5 bills were on third reading and 15 on second reading.

Measures on second readings in both chambers may be passed firstly tomorrow and those on final reading on Wednesday.

Bills in the House which were expected to be passed tonight included:

New Junta Rules In Peru Today

Prevented

(International News Service)
LIMA, Peru, Mar. 2.—A new Junta ruled Peru today after the Peruvian navy, without firing a shot, forced Provisional President

order to "prevent a bloody civil war in the south."

The present provisional government includes Chief Justice Ricardo

Chief A. G. Vences, and Colonel

army.

Shortly after the triumvirate assumed power under the guns of effort to end civil strife rampant in Peru for the past two weeks.

Speculate On Successor To Banking Secretary

his resignation because of differences with the administration over operation of his department.

Fire Destroys New Tea Room

"The Mayfair" On Harlans-
burg Road Is Prey To Flames

OWNERS ABSENT
AS FIRE DEVELOPS

"The Mayfair" a recently built
roadside barbeque and tea room on the Harlansburg road, near the fairgrounds, was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon.

The two-story building of six
rooms was destroyed while the owners, A. J. Crawford, and his family were in Struthers, O.

Central station firemen responded
to the scene three miles from the city line, but the blaze had made rapid progress and the building
could not be saved.

Crawford said the building was worth $10,000 and the contents, all destroyed were worth $5,000. The estimate is unofficial, however.

So complete was the destruction
of the fire that Crawford said:
"Everything was burned: not even a splinter was left."

Made Homeless
However neighbors on the Harlans-
burg road were today caring for the Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford and their daughter, Leonora, 11, left for Struthers, O., to visit Mrs. Craw-ford's brother-in-law W. Carney, at 1:45 p. m. Saturday. Residents near the fair grounds declare smoke was first perceived pouring from "The Mayfair" a short time before 3 p. m.

Unaware of the fire, the Craw-fords remained in Ohio throughout
the afternoon. Two sons of Clyde Gormley of the Harlansburg road
went to Struthers to inform the Crawfords of their misfortune. The

Dear Mr. Kessel,
I have some infor-

to your committee in its work.
I would appreciate an

Very truly yours

Attendance Sunday at the after-

held in the First Congregational

charge and the event was one of
the most successful and inspira-

Pittsburgh, the Beaver valley, El-

Niles, Sharon and many other points gathered here and joined in the inspiring soul stirring singing of old Welsh hymns, which induced a deep religious feeling.

It seemed as though there was no
let-up to the enthusiasm engendered
by the singing of these old religious hymns and after singing continually for two hours, there were those in the audience who would request their favorite hymn and it would be sung with the same enthusiasm
as those rendered previously. There

Erie Woman Is Questioned
By Process Server From
New York

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—
Miss Cassie Clayton, of Erie, Pa., was projected into the spotlight today in the investigation into the mysterious
murder of beautiful, red-
haired Vivian Gordon,
Broadway "girl about town,"
who was found strangled in Van Cortlandt Park early last Thursday.

Miss Clayton was at one time a friend and confidante of the slain
woman. The last letter written by Miss Gordon—a few days before she
was "taken for a ride"—was sent to Miss Clayton. In it Miss Gordon described the feeling of triumph she was experiencing because she was soon to appear as a witness in New York's sensational vice inquiry and
tell how she had been "framed" by a policeman on a vice charged eight years ago.

Said She Would Be Vindicated
Vivian wrote Cassie that she would be "vindicated—if it takes my last breath."

Miss Clayton was to be brought to New York today under armed
guard to relate her story to Referee
Samuel Seabury, head of the vice inquiry, or his assistant Irving Ben-Cooper. It was Cooper who talked to Miss Gordon five days before she was slain. At that time she promised to be a witness against New York's woman "framing" cops.

Significance was attached to the fact that Miss Clayton was questioned in Erie by Edward G. Perry,
a process server attached to Referee
Seabury's staff—and not by a repre-

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Mar. 2.—Con-

Cook, Philadelphia bank messenger, in a $30,000 payroll robbery a year ago, Thoma Martin, of Philadelphia, was executed at 7:05 a. m. a Rock-view penitentiary here today.

Martin was placed in the death chair at 7 a. m. and the current was applied 7:01 a. m. Only one shock of 2,000 volts was applied.

He was pronounced dead by prison physicians at 7:05 a. m.
Martin lost an appeal for commutation of sentence, made to the State Pardon Board the same day that pleas were presented for Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague, on February 17, when the board refused the plea.

Application for commutation was made on the ground that two other men implicated in the robbery and shooting of Cook had been given prison terms while Martin had been sentenced to death, in the same case.

HEALTH COMMITTEE HEARS FINE REPORTS

On Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock the Health Committee of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs met at the call of its chairman, Mrs. W. L. Campbell, in her home on Moody avenue.

Twenty-two of the committee which is composed of club women and the health nurses of the county and city from different organizations, responded to the call. Reports of the work that had been done in the feeding of school children were given.

The special objective for this meeting was to formulate plans for the pre-school child; such as was carried to success last Spring by this same group.

This work has the hearty endorsement of Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools and Dr. Mary Baker, the school physician. It was at their suggestion that the clinics be taken first to the Mahoning, the Lawrence, the Lincoln and Garfield, and Pollock schools and then to as many more schools as the means at hand would allow.

To facilitate this work, the following heads of committees were named: doctors, Mrs. J. H. McEgan; nurses, Mrs. Harry Bell; census and enrollment, Mrs. Roy Long and Mrs. Roy Jamison; hostess, Mrs. H. C. Mitchell with Mrs. Bert McKibben, Mrs. Earl Swezy, and Mrs. C. F. Flannery; publicity, Mrs. W. W. Sniff.

Dainty refreshments served at the close of the business meeting, gave a social hour to be remembered.

Gold and Silver Banquet

The Willing Workers class of the Central Avenue Methodist church held a banquet in the church dining room Friday evening at 6:30 with the Silver side of the class featuring the Gold side, who were winners in a recent contest held in the class.

The dining room and tables were beautifully decorated in gold and silver, a pot of yellow tulips forming the centerpiece, with tall yellow tapers in silver holders being used at the ends. Miniature gold baskets, filled with Easter eggs, marked the places. The color scheme was also carried through the menu.

Rev. Margaret Joshua acted as toastmaster and at the conclusion of a delicious menu a social hour was held and an old fashioned apple peeling featured this part of the program. Mrs. E. J. Switzer, being the winner.

Mrs. Ed Blaine won a picture guessing contest.

The committee in charge of arrangements included Mrs. Ed Blaine and Mrs. Ed Nolan.

Guests at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell of Marshall avenue were the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Smith of the Blackridge road near Beaver Pa. A dinner was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Smith's son and daughter, Dr. Clyde Smith and Miss Gladys Smith, who will have double weddings in the near future.

End Piles Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Your itching, bleeding, protruding piles will go when you actually remove the cause—bad blood circulation in the weak, flabby parts—and not one minute before. Salves or cutting can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. HEM-ROID, prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonard, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the almost dead parts. HEM-ROID has such a wonderful record right in this city, that New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's says must end your Pile agony or money back.

Immediately after the game the individual tables were decorated in tones of green and white suggesting St. Patrick's day, in an unique manner, by the appointed committee who served the delectable menu.

During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful gift in behalf of the present to remind her of the occasion.

BONUS AND NEEDY VETERANS

NUMBERS of New Castle and Lawrence county world war veterans, like a proportion of those in all other sections of the nation, are joining in a rush to take advantage of the loan provisions made in the bonus bill recently passed by the House and Senate over the veto of President Herbert Hoover.

Since the measure has become a law, the government is making every effort to satisfactorily carry out its provisions, the president directing that the law be administered as speedily as possible by the bureau in charge.

It is realized throughout the nation that it would have been better if the bonus bill had been limited to veterans actually in need. The purpose of the bill would have been accomplished if this had been done, for the rush to borrow money on the part of veterans is already so great that it will require months to take care of all applications.

President Hoover has directed General Hines to take care of the needy veterans first, and has asked that local organizations in each city and county certify the cases which should have first attention. Even so, the confusion resulting from hundreds of thousands of applications will seriously handicap the purpose for which the bill was passed.

Locally it is urged that veterans who are not in actual need refrain from borrowing at the present time. Service organizations throughout the country are doing the same. This is good advice. No veterans knows how badly he may need the money later, and statistics of life insurance companies all indicate that need is likely to increase as men grow older. A thousand-dollar insurance policy is a good thing to have in an emergency. Even if a veteran should have to borrow on it before it becomes payable in 1945, he has the satisfaction of knowing that its value is constantly increasing.

Estimates place the number of veterans actually in need at ten percent. But not all of these will be able to borrow fifty percent, or $500, of the value of their certificates. The President has pointed out that 800,000 will be able to borrow less than $200. Over 200,000 will be able to borrow less than $75, and 100,000 whose certificates have been issued recently will not be able to borrow for two years. To take care of these men local relief organizations will have to be on their guard, so that those who need assistance most will not suffer.

LESSON FOR DROUGHT REGION

Sweet are the uses of adversity even in drought-stricken Arkansas. Like the phoenix, it will rise from its own ashes a bigger and stronger state.

Measures are being taken by the 2,000,000 persons who live on Arkansas farms to prevent repetition of the drought crisis. These measures include diversification of crops and advocacy of self-sufficing farms. The program fostered by farm leaders contemplates using half of the acreage now devoted to cotton and corn for other purposes. The proposed agricultural departures include raising food for the farm family and livestock; fodder, meat, dairy products, garden truck, eggs and fruit.

Arkansas farmers must have recognized their danger years ago, but, if they did and heeded it not, they were not different from other farmers and non-agricultural peoples. What did the wheat growers and beef raisers do when they awoke decades ago the fact that whoever depends upon a single crop is headed for disaster? Between over-production, low prices and crop failures, the wheat growers are kept poor most of the time, but still they turn all their acres into wheat.

Arkansas farmers are taking a lesson from those areas where the drought was as prolonged as in Arkansas but which were saved from ruin and hardship by diversification. The drought caught Arkansas without enough acres in those crops which always carry on.

NOW CONGRESS MAY ADJOURN

No excuse now for a special session of the new Congress following the adjournment of the existing body. Both Senate and House have had their stormy debates over the soldiers' bonus loans and ignored the warnings of President Hoover. They have enjoyed their day with Muscle Shoals. The insurgents have had their fling at the "Power Trust," that figment of overheated imaginations. Insurgent alliance with Democratic leadership for a time raised the roof in frantic attempts to demoralize the Red Cross. Threats to hold up the department supply bills, which had to be passed if a special session was to be avoided, disappeared with the subsidence of the Big Noise. These are virtually out of the way. The pathway to final adjournment next Wednesday is pretty well cleared of obstacles.

Glory be! The country will hail with delight the fall of the gavel that will mark the end of the Seventy-first Congress. It cannot anticipate with complacency the advent of the Seventy-second, but fortunately that is an infliction for the future to contend with. The coming summer and fall should be a period of peace, and this is precisely what business and industry require. They wish to be free of Washington. Congress has been very unsettling, and the Nation has been struggling with about all the disturbance it could find strength for.

Only two and a half days more and the curtain will ring down unless, of course, last-hour complications should arise. It will shut out from public view the extraordinary antics of the extraordinary Borah, cut off the invective of a Norris, a Pat Harrison, a Robinson, a Caraway, a Nye and a cabal of others intent upon creating disturbance and setting the country by the ears. And a good thing it will be, for Congress has been going from bad to worse in a partisan way. Next year's Presidential campaign is looming and the session now closing has made the rafters resound to epithets hurled by bitter opponents of the administration.

But if this session has turned to politics, what is to be expected of the next one? With the political parties so equally divided that neither side can count upon a majority for any given policy the outlook is anything but pleasing. But let's not borrow trouble. Sufficient unto December is the evil thereof.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The world learns that Thomas A. Edison—as was the great Newton—was considered stupid by his teacher. Told that he was a numskull and sent home. LAWRENCE STILL TRAVELS February 26, 1931.

Mr. Jacob F. Rentschler, Mgr. New Castle Daily News.

My Dear Jake:—We got our Rolls de Henry out of the stable and gave it a feed of gasoline and we meandered over to Deland Fair—47 miles from here, passing through Winter Park, Orange City and Sanford, the Celery City of the World. They have thousands of acres of celery and ship out by the trainloads. We crossed the St. Johns river, the only river in the United States that flows north, arriving at Deland Fair Grounds, we were amazed at the beautiful entrance, most wonderful display of fruit, vegetables, poultry, etc. The Midway, say it with a scream, enjoyment for every person; anyone who had fun in them would surely have a good one. We recuperated our financial condition, our former experience taught us a lesson. They had good horse racing and we did shine o. k. There were special entertainments of all kinds and an attendance from 18,000 to 20,000 people. We counted automobiles from 15 different states. To put on a real fair, give the people pleasure and you can get them.

One of the greatest pleasures we had there—it was governor's day, and to think that Governor Carlton would lend his presence to make the fair a financial success. He does not pose as an agriculturist, but as a lover of horses and believes that the fair is a valuable asset to his people. He did not open his address with "Ladies and Gentlemen," but used the words, "Friends and Home Folks." He was a wonderful orator and a young, broad-minded man. We were introduced by the president of the association to an Indian chief. His handle we could not remember. He had one of the most beautiful voices we ever heard and sang three songs. The last one of the words were as follows: "Lawrence and Matilda Gold, you are growing old, you have silver threads amongst the gold. Oh, Lawrence and Matilda, you will be always young and fair to me." Say, Jake, we shed tears, it was the first time we ever learned we were growing old.

Yours truly, LAWRENCE CASTLE, M. D. F.

A Great Century's Gift.

The 19th century we received from its predecessor the horse; we bequeath the locomotive, the bicycle and the auto. We received the scythe; we bequeath the mowing machine. We received the painter's brush; we bequeath lithography, the camera and color photography. We received 23 chemical elements; we bequeath 80. We received the sailing ship; we bequeath the magnificent steamships which are the glory of the world. We received the beacon signal-fire; we bequeath the telephone and wireless telegraphy. Best of all, we received unalienable pain, and we bequeath anesthetics—chloroform, ether and cocaine. We received an average duration of life of 30 years; we bequeath 40 years.—Professor Dolbear, Tufts college.

None of us object to flattery provided we are the object of it.

A hitch-hiker, recently observed at Little Falls, Minn., had a novel scheme to obtain rides. He carried a little red gasoline can so that he would appear to be a motorist out of gas. It worked too.

The young South Side shiek took a girl for a ride in his new car. On a particularly deserted stretch of road, the engine went dead. While waiting for help, he gave her a ride to his companion.

"My kisses will put new life into you," he said.

"Then for goodness sake kiss the car," said the girl, "and let's get home."

At a recent Chicago wedding, the hymn, "Fight the good fight with all thy might," was sung. Nothing like preparing them for what follows the ceremony in due time.

Many young men earn their living by writing—home for money.

Mark Twain on Books. Once upon a time a young woman asked Mark Twain, "I suppose you are fond of books?" "Well, that depends," drawled the humorist. "If a book has a leather cover it has a magnificent value as a razor stop. A brief, concise work such as the French write is very useful to put under the leg of a wobbly table. Large old-fashioned books with clasps can't be beat as missiles to hurl at dogs. A large book like a geography is nearly as good as a piece of tin to nail over a broken window pane."

Out in Washington, we read of a man who caught a trout with two mouths, and only recently we heard of a man who caught a fish without any mouth at all. Those fellows must live pretty handy the Canadian boundary line.

Auto-Suggestion—When it comes to shifting gears, the average woman is in a clash by herself.

Mrs. Brown—also a relief. In spite of his matrimonial record, Riley was finding it a little difficult to express his sentiments. He took the following means:

"Mrs. Brown, I own a fine large lot in Evergreen cemetery. My first wife is buried there."

"So I understand, Mr. Riley."

"And my second wife is also buried there."

"Is that so?"

"And my third wife lies there, too."

"Indeed?"

"And Mrs. Brown, there's room in that lot for one more."

A Scotchman had a car which wasted petrol. One day he went to his garage, took the cap off the tank and looked inside; but it was too dark to see. He lighted a match. Accidentally it dropped into the tank.

"Well, wouldn't that twist your whiskers!" he grumbled in dismay, as he peered after the lighted match. "She's empty again."

So Babe Ruth is being sued on a real estate note. Well, aren't we all.

Reducing armaments won't do it. The important thing is to adopt histories that tell the same lies.

Some women are too good as cooks. They overlook everything.

A woman was hurrying to the bedside of her very ill husband when the word was received by the conductor of the train on which she was riding that her better half had died. The conductor told the colored porter to break the news to the woman. He knocked at the state-room door. The woman asked, "who's there?" "George Washington" said the dandy.

"Why," said the passenger, "George Washington is dead."

"So's your old man" said Gange.

Mississippi was the first state to ratify the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution. Pennsylvania was the last. Mississippi ratified January 8, 1918; Pennsylvania February 25, 1919.

Not Dead. Those who are gone, you have. Those who departed loving you, love you still; and you love them always. They are not really gone, those dear hearts and true; they are only gone in the next room; and you will presently get up and follow them, and yonder door will close upon you, and you will be no more seen.—W. M. Thackeray.

The struggle for existence is the most interesting part of existing.

They Were Both There. A visitor at an insane asylum noticed one inmate who seemed quite harmless and rational, except as he wandered about the grounds he repeated a girl's name over and over again.

"The girl whose name he is repeating jilted him, and he lost his mind," explained the attendant.

In one of the padded cells inspected later there was a particularly violent man, whose condition attracted the visitor's attention.

"He's the fellow who married the girl that jilted the fellow outside," explained the attendant.

"Preferred by Celebrities," says a typewriter ad. Careful examination, however, reveals that the cap "I" is built no stronger than the one on other machines.

Might As Well. A wealthy old lady, having ill, called a lawyer to assist her in making her will. She tried to go into a good deal of detail in her instructions, and the lawyer said, soothingly:

"Now, then, don't you worry about disposing of this property; just leave it all to me."

"Well," answered the old lady, "I guess I might as well. You'd get most of it, anyway."

COULD YOU DRIVE IN THE DARK?

I used to drive in the dark. In France I did it, and it wasn't as difficult as I thought it would be. If you drove a car with lights you were a danger to yourself and to other people, so you fumbled along the roads in the dark.

At first it was terrifying. You'd never done it before and you did not see how you could do it at all. Suppose you ran into something? Suppose a truck or a tank ran into you? Suppose you ran off the road? Suppose a thousand things?

But finally you learned how. You got the feel of it and it became as easy as any other kind of driving. You learned to know when a truck was coming your way; the darkness ahead would thicken just a little and you knew there was traffic ahead.

You fell asleep driving and woke up at just the right time.

You did get off the road, but you got back on again.

You did run into things, but what if you did?

At last it became "second nature" to drive without lights along roads near the front. Burning villages, green artillery signals, flaring star shells—these were your guides, and soon you did not miss your lights at all. And you felt as safe as if your glaring headlights made day of the road a hundred yards from you. It wasn't so bad—it was a good experience.

I learned that it is possible to drive without lights, that it's possible, too, to get along without many other things we think are essential.

I read an article recently by a woman who asked dozens of other women what they wanted most from life. Can you guess what most of those women wanted? They SAID they wanted Security. They were working for it, hoping for it. And they felt that life wouldn't be worth living if some day they didn't reach Security. I can understand how all those women felt, and so can you. I felt once that I couldn't Drive Without Lights, without being able to see clearly, in a white light, exactly what was ahead of me. But I learned that it was exciting, even fun, NOT to know what was there before me. I was on my own more, without lights; I used my own powers more; and I was safer without lights than with them.

I wouldn't be advising people to travel down these highways of ours without lights, but it's good to know that it can be done. For the only really secure people in this world who value Life more than its Conventions and Adventure more than Routine—know that, whatever happens, they will Get Along.

A GOOD MEMORY DIES

In years the day I died, And I knew Shakespeare through and through. And always took his words for true.

"I sat with Plato many a night; His language I could quote. And much that Spencer used to write."

"That's not enough," St. Peter said. "You lived to memorize. With borrowed stuff you filled your head."

But what thought Henry Wise? Forget the books upon the shelf. And tell me what you thought yourself."

"Were you so wrapped in borrowed plumes. That never year by year You dared to quote those ancient toms. And let yourself appear. Could you not fashion or devise. One thought to speak for Henry Wise?"

Farm Board Made Subject Of Debate As Members Quit

Announced Retirement From Government Activity Of Alexander Legge, Chairman Of Organization, And Some Associates Vigorously Discussed

Vigorous debate on the subject of Federal Farm Board policies follows the announced retirement of Chairman, Alexander Legge, and 300,000 bales of cotton supposedly taken off the market. The resignations of Chairman Legge and Mr. McKelvie might well change this situation. If we must continue experimenting with an unsound proposition, at least, let it be done without running contrary to economic principles and without disrupting the established business of the country, especially if the farmer receives no benefit from doing otherwise.

Advice from the CHARLESTON EVENING POST is that President Hoover "set about liquidating the Farm Board as fast as possible," and as to the retiring chairman, that paper offers the comment: "Cotton and grain will be a long time getting over the ill-effects of the new telescope." The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BRINGING LUNA NEARER

Work is proceeding on the design and construction of a new telescope which, when completed, will be the largest in the world. It will be the reflecting type, the feature of which will be a large silver mirror 200 inches in diameter, or twice as large as the largest similar mirror now used in a telescope.

Astronomers believe that when the new telescope is available, it will make the moon appear as though it were only about twenty-five miles away. Through it, objects on the moon no larger than the United States capitol building will be visible.

An expenditure of several million dollars will be required before the completed telescope will be available for use. Weather observations are now being carried on in a number of places in southern California, in order to find a suitable site which is also easily accessible.

Several years, however will elapse before the telescope is ready for use.

Mr. Einstein's advice is being sought while he is in Southern California. In fact, Mr. Einstein has had an eye-full at the great Mt. Wilson Observatory.

the chairman's policies. He will be chiefly remembered as the man who exhorted farmers not to sell cotton when it was nineteen cents a pound and wheat when it was $1.50 a bushel and who urged holding at these prices with all the weight of government authority behind his advice. Worse than this, however, was his effort to try to corner the cotton and wheat markets with buying orders intended to prevent the inevitable downward trend of the two commodities. This will eventually cost everybody money, but most of all the farmers it was intended to help.

The position that the personnel of the board was good but that the law failed to meet the situation is taken by the DAYTON DAILY NEWS, the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL, the MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL APPEAL, the CHATTANOOGA NEWS, the TOLEDO BLADE, the DALLAS JOURNAL and the DETROIT NEWS. The CHARLOTTE OBSERVER says that Mr. Legge "tackled a job that the ablest mind in the nation would have quailed before," and had the courage of his convictions. The SIOUX FALLS ARGUS-LEADER points out that the members of the board, "venturing into a new field," were "genuinely sincere in their efforts to be of assistance." The HOUSTON CHRONICLE advises "a new approach to the farm problem."

"The tendency to criticize harshly and indiscriminately all men in public office is growing upon the people, and creates a very serious, if not menacing situation, which may cripple public service," declares the PASADENA STAR-NEWS, while the BUFFALO EVENING NEWS interprets the criticisms of the board as "expressions of resentment at the policy of bringing into public service men of the highest business experience and ability."
The SAVANNAH NEWS suggests that Chairman Legge may "go back to private business convinced that only a man with a skin as thick as an alligator's ought to try for public honors." The KANSAS CITY TIMES feels that "it must be a matter of satisfaction to Mr. Legge to receive so many protests over his retirement."
"The people of the country as a whole," asserts the LITTLE ROCK ARKANSAS DEMOCRAT, "will applaud the man for his efforts, whether or not they were successful. He has displayed an exceptionally unselfish spirit and that is more novel than some might believe, especially from a man so great in the field of industry as Mr. Legge."

Seven In Mexican Theater Fire Are Reported Injured

Theater Built More Than 100 Years Ago Destroyed By Fire At Mexico City

(International News Service)
MEXICO CITY, Mar. 2.—Seven persons were seriously injured today when the principal theater, famed downtown showhouse built more than 100 years ago, was destroyed by fire.

A major tragedy was averted by the lateness of the hour, which had reduced the audience to a few scattered groups. Five adjoining buildings were damaged by the blaze, which for a time endangered the American club, located across the street from the theatre.

Rudy Vallee Sued Over $80,000 Song Profits

Claimant To Authorship Of "Vagabond Lover" Seeks Accounting Of Funds

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—Suit asking Rudy Vallee to account for $80,000 profits from the song "I'm Just a Vagabond Lover" was filed in Superior Court Saturday by Leon Zimmerman, who claims to be author of the piece.

Zimmerman's attorney said his client agreed to place Vallee's name on the song as co-author, while Vallee was to popularize the song and divide the profits evenly. It was copyrighted by Zimmerman May 12, 1927, the bill set forth. The complaint charged that Vallee realized $53,000 from a motion picture based on the song and other profits totaled $25,000, of which Zimmerman contends he has not received a share. A Circuit Court master in chancery recently upheld Zimmerman's claims to authorship in another suit in which he was challenged by Jesse Brown, Chicago attorney. Final decision in this case is pending in Circuit Court.

Blizzard Men To Tell Experiences Of 1888

Exaggerators Of Snow Storm Are To Be Thrown Out Of Meeting

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—"The Blizzard Men" who went through the famous blizzard of 1888 which piled snowdrifts ten feet high in the streets of New York City are to have their annual reunion on Thursday, March 12, and anyone who gets caught ex-aggregation in his reminiscences will be thrown out.
"Isn't it enough," Professor Otto Raubenheim, of Brooklyn, historian, demanded today, "that frozen horses were thawed out with whisky, that men used ice picks to get their clothes off, and that Barnum's circus showed to twenty-eight customers, with the clowns sitting on the edge of a box serving champagne?"

Yet you'll meet me in the thick of a Broadway crowd"

It's a far cry from the cow country to Broadway. But what it takes to make the broncho buster "open up" about his cigarette is exactly what you want in your smoke. Good taste—and lots of it! And that is first a matter of tobacco quality, never forget it! What you taste in Chesterfield is riper, better tobaccos—not another thing—blended and "cross-blended" to a fragrant, satisfying mildness that is Chesterfield's own!

Greater mildness . . . better taste!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

By Central Press
NEW YORK, March 2.—A scientist has just made the startling discovery that the cities speak in varied tones. New York, he says, is "tenor."
Which would lead a Gentleman of the Old School to believe that the man of science has been hanging out at the wrong end of the New York botanical gardens.

THE GENESIS OF A JEST
Oscar Frederick Howard drew a cartoon in the New Yorker in which a policeman in full uniform is depicted in the act of invading a swank speakeasy. Pointing an accusatory forefinger at a Male Buttecup, who is sipping a cocktail, the cop says:
"Don't You Know You Can't Leave Your Car On Forty-Ninth Street?"

Broadway thought so much of that line that they lifted it bodily for one of the current shows, and they continued to think so much of it that in "The New Yorker's" they revamped it.

The police rush the speakeasy. "Go-back," says the Bootlegger-in-Chief, "and tell the Police Commissioner that I give him twenty-four hours to leave town!"
"No," says the head cop, "we ain't here for that. You parked your car within six feet of a fire plug. Whereupon the bootlegger turns sadly to his girl.
"I guess," he says, with bowed head, "they've got me!"

T COSTS NO MORE
It may have been something of that sort that prompted Dorothy Parker, the Busy Poetess to trill:
"The Lord knows I have lived too long to demand originality in writers of musical comedy books; but, at least, I cannot feel that I am asking too much when I implore that while they are stealing gags, they might for goodness sake, steal good ones."

ORIGINALITY
Talking about "stealing good gags" recalls a paragraph from Jack Donaghy's book, "Letters of a Hoofers to His Ma."

"Just to show you what kind of rats there are in this business," the Hoofers says in one letter, "I'm sending you a write-up from South Framingham. Get that where the writer says, 'Jack Donaghy might have got more laughs if his jokes hadn't been told by Jack Nelson last week.' After all the trouble I had putting my monologue together some guy steals my material, and they give him the credit. All the dough I wasted looking in magazines for original stuff."

EXCLUSIVE "BLIND PIG"
A certain Manhattan matron is much worried about her seventeen-year old daughter. Helen, who attends a business course at night school between nine and ten o'clock. For three nights Helen didn't home till long past midnight and Ma investigated.
Helen, it appears had been stopping at a speakeasy on her way back to the paternal roof.

"A speakeasy!" cried Ma, aghast. "Oh, it's all right," said Helen. "Nobody goes there but nice people—you know, policemen and judges, and all the other girls."

OYSTERS DEBUNKED
The Duchess hasn't been herself since she learned that oyster growers and dealers are bending every energy to shatter the myth about oysters not being good in months in which there is no R.
"For years," says the Duchess, "I've been eating oysters during May, June, July and August, just because I felt I wasn't supposed to eat them during those months. Now if they're going to lift the ban, kick over the taboo—well, I'll retaliate by quitting oysters altogether and swinging to clams. It's time something was done to stop the inroads by science into our private lives."

GODDESS OF FASHION
Gabrielle Chanel, French dressmaker, is headed for Hollywood where she'll anticipate the styles for screen stars so that "between the filmings of a picture and its production, the gowns won't be out of date."
One look at Chanel, and I take back all the sassy, cold and unfeeling remarks I've ever made about her. In attire, she, herself is simple and unobtrusive, as the cover of a hymn book. She's got a good brain back of those sparkling eyes. A business woman with a sense of humor and a God-given slant on Peacock Psychology.

FRAT DANCE DATE NEARLY OFF

"Triple-Action" Eleventh Hour Rescue

"For weeks I had been looking forward to a fraternity dance at Lehigh. My luck—the day of the dance I had to get a bad cough! My mother gave me some Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup; and I stayed in the house all that day. Immediately, the cough got better. And although I still felt a little shaky, I went to the dance and had a good time. No ill after-effect next day. My cough was completely gone—thanks to Smith Brothers'!" D. Friday evening Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Bennett, Park avenue, received members of Mrs. E. Swan's class in their home.

A short business session opened the evening, after which Mrs. Ralph Eakin and Mrs. James Blaine conducted a period of games that were highly amusing.

Musical numbers were given by Mrs. Earl Eakin and Dorothy McKee.

The evening was brought to a close with a delicious lunch, served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Dorothy.

March 27, the class will meet with Mrs. Chester Snyder, 1010 Williams street.

FRIEND OF SLAIN NEW YORK WOMAN LOCATED AT ERIE

representative of the New York police department. This indicated that Seabury is conducting an investigation independent of that of the police.

Police Are "Cold"

The police, ever since the murder four days ago, have been "cold" toward the theory that Miss Gordon was slain to prevent her from making disclosures concerning crooked policemen in the vice inquiry.

The police have inclined heavily toward the theory that she was killed for her $2,000 mink coat and $2,500 diamond ring.

Miss Gordon had claimed that in March, 1929, she was "framed" by Policeman Andrew J. McLaughlin and her divorced husband, John E. O. Bischoff, of Washington, D. C., she was arrested in company with Al Marks on a vice charge. She was haled into women's court and sentenced to Bedford reformatory. Her child, Benita, was taken from her and awarded to the husband. Ever since she harbored a grudge against McLaughlin and her husband and repeatedly promised to "get even."

McLaughlin and Bischoff, both of whom are now in New York, denied that they had participated in any "frame-up" such as she had threatened to reveal to Referee Seabury and his investigators.

Nothing To Fear

Both Patrolman McLaughlin and Bischoff, and perhaps other witnesses, were to be called to testify today before the March grand jury in the Bronx. Bischoff professes an eagerness to help the authorities in every way he can. McLaughlin said he has "nothing to fear." He claimed he does not even remember Miss Gordon. He was in Bermuda on a vacation at the time the woman was slain. He arrived home yesterday.

He was questioned for slightly over an hour and then released. He smilingly remarked he was "going back on my beat."

It was reported that Al Marks, the man with whom Miss Gordon was arrested in 1923, was preparing to surrender to the authorities. He was to appear at the office of District Attorney Charles B. McLaughlin with an alibi as to his whereabouts on the night of the crime.

Bischoff told reporters he would not claim the body of his former wife. She will be buried in Potter's field unless relatives claim the body. She is said to have left $30,000 to $50,000. Bischoff declared it was a coincidence that his divorce was granted on the day his wife was sentenced to Bedford reformatory, on March 18, 1923, about ten days after her arrest by McLaughlin.

Patrolman McLaughlin, when he was being questioned, produced a letter addressed to him, dated January 19, 1931, recalling to him how you framed Benita Bischoff in 1923 and telling him she was going to "tell all" before the vice inquiry.

The letter was signed "B. F. B."

McLaughlin insisted he had no idea who the sender might be.

Holding Two

Meanwhile, two persons are being held as material witnesses in connection with the mysterious case. They are John A. Radloff, lawyer, and one of his clients, Samuel Cohen, an ex-convict. Radloff was Miss Gordon's attorney. The diaries of the slain woman mentioned Radloff and Cohen frequently, and in one instance, she wrote that there was one man she feared—Radloff. She wrote that she feared Radloff might get Cohen "or some of his henchmen" to do away with her.

Radloff and Cohen both deny any knowledge of the crime. They are in custody under $50,000 bail each. They were making efforts to day to obtain their release through habeas corpus proceedings.

Although 150 witnesses have been examined the police have no definite clew as to the slayer of Miss Gordon. Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney said this morning:

"Every clew has failed. We are up against a stone wall."

ERIE, Pa., Mar. 2.—Mrs. Cassie Clayton, holding the spotlight of interest in the investigation into the death of Vivian Gordon, was taken into custody by Edward G. Perry, process server, here last night.

Perry said he came to Erie as the result of a letter received in New York from Mrs. Clayton in which she declared she was ready to appear as a witness and requested funds to make the trip be sent her.

She was found in a boarding house here and taken to a New York train by Perry. Reports here were that she had been married for three months and had lived here since that time.

Of Course Not!

Dr. J. W. Herringbone, fish doctor, whose intelligence quotient recently rated 1/2 of 1% by volume, states:

"Next to my discovery that fish don't perspire, my greatest accomplishments are in the motor-ing field. Recently I have taken up the sport of racing trains to crossings. Naturally brakes are a disadvantage... my driving companion might decide to use them and stop the car be-fore it reached the crossing. Inasmuch as I am striving toward a day when I can at least make the race a tie, I never have my brakes serviced and may remove them altogether."

For the average motorist, who would rather leave ties and headlines to Dr. Herringbone, our expert brake service is preferred. He finds that equalized brakes make driving safer and more enjoyable. Are yours in adjustment?

If You're Guilty—

Beware Of This Crime Detector Which, 'Tis Said, Wrings Confessions From Flustered Suspects

Diagram showing how the record appears after a test

By E. M. CIPRIANI
Central Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—Over in the scientific crime detection laboratory of Northwestern University is a pecu-liar little box, about 16 inches by 9 by 8. In appearance it is nothing unusual.

In actuality, however, it is some-thing extraordinary.

It is, figuratively, a mechanical, scientific "third degree" which ex-perts and painlessly wrings con-fessions from guilty criminals! Fur-thermore, it exonerates innocent criminal suspects!

According to Leonard Keeler, member of the Institute for Juve-nile Research, and of the Crimi-nologists' Bureau, 75 per cent of the guilty suspects who have submitted to the test of this little black box have confessed their crimes. Keeler has studied the instrument for years and has aided in perfectly to its present status the machine now in use at Northwestern laboratory.

The apparatus, he explains, is for the purpose of "detecting deception."

The method, or system, is based on increases in blood pressures of suspects, and increases in the res-piration curves. Briefly, it is known as a scientific truth-telling machine, and the respiration of sub-jects will fluctuate in response to various emotions, particularly to fear and to falsehood.

It is known that when a person lies, his blood pressure rises, his respiration changes, and his pulse and his heart quicken. Various emotions cause similar reactions, but during the lie detecting ma-chine tests, care is taken to elimi-nate all emotions except that of fear of telling the truth. It is con-ceded that fear of truth prompts lies.

A man accused of crime is turned over by the police to laboratory authorities. Operators of the ma-chine assure him he is no longer in police custody. He is asked to submit to the test. Few suspects refuse. The subject is seated comfortably. A cuff is bound around his upper arm or leg. A pneumograph tube is at-tached about his chest or abdomen, depending on his type of breathing. A record of his normal reactions is made to serve as a basis for the subsequent reactions engendered by questioning.

WHOLE FAMILY WAS GOING DOWN HILL

World's Tonic Helped Clear Up
Catarrh and Restored Happiness

"I want to tell everybody about the big thing World's Tonic did for my family," said a lady of Beaver Falls, Pa., Mrs. Joseph Miller, a day or two ago. "We first heard of it when I visited some of my folks in Southern Ohio. It was creating a great deal of talk there. My husband, my 16 year old son and I had suffered much from catarrh. My husband had all kinds of trouble with his stomach, and my boy was thin and weak. I kept going, but in the morning my head and throat were full of slime, my appetite was poor and altogether the whole family seemed to be going down hill."

"Well I heard so much about World's Tonic in Ohio that I got a bottle, and all three of us took it. It took seven bottles to clear us all up, but since we got well we are a happy family indeed, and we cannot say too much about the merits of World's Tonic. The boy has gained fifteen pounds in seven weeks, and looks and acts like a boy should. My husband and I feel perfectly well."

World's Tonic is sold by Eckerd's, McKeen's, Fairley, Smith's and all other good druggists. (A-125)

asked, to allay unwarranted fear, and to invoke calmness. These are followed by interrogations pertain-ing to the crime. An innocent sub-ject will respond slightly, but with-out great emotional distress. A guilty one will show more violent fluctuations on the paper record of the machine. The marking needles will virtually dance in scrolling curves. Pulse, heart, breathing, blood pressure are registered.

Finally, if the record indicates guilt, the suspect will be requested to explain the varied fluctuations. He is given a second test, and when the same questions to which he re-sponded to so violently are asked again, he endeavors to be calmer, but generally becomes more con-fused, and the curves take more violent turns. After second or third tests such as this, a guilty man will confess, Keeler states.

Keeler related several demon-strations of the lie detector. In one case a college girl, charged with stealing from her sorority house, was expelled from the university. She demanded that all the girls in her house submit to the machine test. All agreed. The last subject, the assistant house manager, who was the least suspected of any, reg-istered terrific emotional curves on the machine record. Then she confessed!

The machine, Keeler admits, is not yet perfect. He now is working on other phases to establish an im-provement leading to its scientific infallibility. The machine is re-stricted to scientific laboratories, for its success depends upon skilled op-erators. In time, the lie detector probably will be widely used, particu-larly in bank thefts, Keeler be-lieves.

here is the story of what happened . . .

Five years ago Sears, Roebuck and Co. had the plans all laid and skeleton organized for the most economical system of distri-bution ever devised.

But even with the system of distributing all ready, we didn't have a tire with which we were satisfied. So we called in the fore-most engineers and tire designers of the country. We tore apart every tire then in existence and found out what made it good. We explored every process of tire construction then known, and developed many new ones. And we ended with the design and rubber compounds for a tire that was miles ahead of any ever offered the American public.

Then we went to the most successful tire manufacturer in the country, and had him build it for us, with the same exact-ing thoroughness that has made his own tire extraordinary in quality. The result was a tire that is superlative beyond all dreams.

Sears' method of distribution did the rest. It saved the manufacturer's selling cost. It saved an expensive system of ware-houses or jobbers. It took the tire to the public in the most economical way possible—one selling expense, one profit besides the manufacturer's.

Naturally, it created a new standard of value in the tire industry.

furnish him with definite evidence of illegal relations between public officials and officials of the accused companies.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Many Stupid Practices
Of Correction Are Used
By Thoughtless ParentsDr. Myers Declares That Forcing Children To Learn Bible Verses For Chastisement Is UnwiseBy GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.
Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.You command your child of four to go to Mrs. Rowland and tell her he enjoyed the party. The child does not want to go. You try to force him and you fail. Next time you want the child to observe a similar convention he will hesitate still more because of the annoyance and fear you had created in him.You do not teach "please" and
"thank you" by sternly forcing children to say these words after they have already omitted them. You don't make one child love another by compelling him to kiss the child he has injured in a controversy. A certain mother said she had always had her three children kiss one another as punishment for quarreling.
"Now," said she, "my boy of eight rebels. The other day he said defiantly, 'No sir; I will not kiss a girl!'"You probably have sent your child to bed for being naughty. There are many parents who have known, perhaps, who have set their children to memorizing verses of the Bible, or saying prayers, in punishment for certain ills. They argue this way:
"This penalty will prove such a punishment to these children that they will not repeat the offense. While they are being punished, see what good they are getting. What a storehouse of memory they are building up."An example of this type of punishment is found in many schoolrooms where children still are being punished for the things they do wrong during the day by having toremain after school to work more at their studies. A prevailing practice in high school is to send pupils to the study hall for punishment. Let us take a look into a few of these instances and see what becomes of them.To have to go to bed for being bad may make the punished child less likely to repeat the particular offense for which he had been punished. To have to learn prayers or verses from the Bible; to study lessons after school or serve time in the study hall may have immediately good effect in deterring the child from future like offenses. But what has happened in the meantime to these tools of punishment?We want our children to observe good manners, to love their brothers and sisters, and to get along well with other children. We want him to enjoy a nap by day, to find it pleasant. We want him to choose to read the Bible and not to find prayers painful. We exhaust our greatest efforts to make school studies and the study hour attractive. Will their use as punishment promote our purpose? Now it is a fundamental law of life that what is painful is repellant and what gives pleasure is attractive.If therefore, we would have our small children hate to go to bed by day, despise the Bible and all things sacred, dislike their studies and their school, we shall go on with our prevailing feeble-minded modes of punishing our children. If, on the other hand, we would be wise and worthy parents we are going to make it a rule never to use as punishment of our children anything which we wish to be attractive to them. Let us think this matter over.WEST PITTSBURGH

Prevailing Wage Scales For Postoffice Builders

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 2.—Legislation which would require contractors who may build the proposed New Castle and Ellwood post offices to pay the wage scales prevailing in the city was approved by the House without a record vote Saturday.

The bill, introduced by Representative Robert Low Bacon of New York, is designed to restrain contractors putting up government structures from paying wages below those existing in the communities in which the building projects may be located and to eliminate the importation of cheap outside labor.

It would require contractors on all government building projects to sign a contract under which they would promise to pay the wage rates existing in the communities in which the buildings are located.

But slight opposition was voiced to the measure in the House and its proponents are working to have it come to a vote in the Senate in the few days yet remaining to the present session. Should the Senate fail to act, the bill would of course die and would have to be re-introduced during the next session.

Once the Senate approves of the measure it is virtually certain to become law, it is believed, inasmuch as President Hoover is understood to be friendly to the legislation.

LOOKING BACK IN NEW CASTLE

New Castle is today famed for the large number of people, who have ability along the entertainment line and it is not at all hard to bring together a group of local performers, who can put on an entertainment, play or musical production that has all the earmarks of a successful professional affair.

The city has always been noted along these lines and no doubt the present group of successful entertainers is due in part to the reputation given the city in years past by those, who entered the entertainment world from this city and were known from coast to coast.

Outstanding among the group of performers who called New Castle home in the past were the Diamond Brothers, Lou, Matt and Lawrence. They could sing, dance and entertain in a very successful manner.

In the years 1882 to 1885 they first became known beyond the narrow limits of their home town and traveled here and there in professional entertainment with outstanding road attractions. Fancy dancing was one of their big specialties and at one time they were end men for the Al G. Fields Minstrels, one of the greatest minstrel organizations that ever existed in this country.

Eventually they organized a minstrel organization of their own and for several years they traveled about the country and Diamond Brothers Minstrels became a household word in entertainment lines in many parts of the country.

Diamond Brothers were known from coast to coast and visited many cities and towns in every part of the country.

Tomorrow: Other New Castle people who carried the fame of the city to other places by their success in the entertainment world.

Catarrhal Deafness May Be Overcome

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to New Castle Drug Co., Eckerd's or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parment (double strength) and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

CARLISLE, Pa., March 2.—Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, for Sylvester B. Sadler, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, who died of pneumonia at his home, "Thornwald," just south of here, Sunday.

Justice Sadler had been ill for several days. He was seized first with influenza, which rapidly developed into pneumonia.

Schnader Jolts Judges Seeking Pay Increase

Jurists Not Entitled To Boost On Basis Of Federal Census Returns

HARRISBURG, March 2.—No judge is entitled to higher salary because of increase in population in his district, unless the legislature specifically authorizes the increase, Attorney General Schnader ruled.

The opinion was given Deputy Auditor General Frank H. Lehman after various judges claimed that in the 1930 census their judicial districts advanced to a class in which higher salaries are paid to judges. Outside Philadelphia and Allegheny counties, judges' salaries are determined by the population of the districts they serve.

Schnader ruled the 1929 act, which increased judges' salaries generally did not provide that the salaries of the jurists should vary as the population in their districts changed, although several other acts by the same legislature made specific provision for reclassification with each census. He also stressed that the 1929 general appropriations act which provided funds for payment of judges until after June 1 this year, made no provision for increases in salary due to the census.

Terms of assistant county superintendents of schools no not automatically end with the resignation of the county superintendents, another opinion from the department of justice advises the department of public instruction. The assistant ruling declares, is entitled to serve to the end of the year for which the county superintendent was elected unless he is removed for cause.

Congress Ready For Adjournment As Per Schedule

GREAT REJOICING ON CAPITOL HILL

Controversial Issues Today Are Mere Sham Battles
In Both Branches

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—Assured of a nine month's vacation before the next Congress convenes, House and Senate today went through the formal motions of legislating with all controversial issues doomed in the 48 hours remaining before adjournment.

There was great rejoicing on Capitol Hill over the knowledge that Congress will not be called into special session this summer. The threat of a summer session passed when all the necessary appropriation bills were enacted and action secured on such controversial issues as Drought Relief, Muscle Shoals and the Soldier's Bonus Loan Act.

Considerable Debate
Both House and Senate were engaged in highly controversial issues today, although the fights were mere sham battles, since neither bill is likely to become a law. In the House, it was a measure to slash ninety percent from the Immigration quotas for two years while in the Senate it was the vestal Copyright bill, followed by the Copper Oil Embargo bill. Administration leaders said none of the measures could be enacted.

Aside from legislation, there will be considerable debate, the large number of "lame ducks" in House and Senate must sing their swansongs before retiring to private life. Insurgent and Democratic leaders must review the legislative record of Congress to point out how the administration failed in each crisis and every emergency. The administration leaders must inform the public how the Republican party met each crisis and emergency with flying colors. In short, there must be the usual quota of political welkin ringing. But at noon Wednesday all this will end, with falling gavels sending the seventy-first Congress into history.

Chief Wallace Retires Sunday

Veteran Chief Of Cleveland Fire Department, 83 Years Old, Steps Down

PLANS TO KEEP ON FIGHTING FIRES

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, March 2.—George Wallace, 83, "hero of fact, not of fiction: of deeds, not of words," was officially retired, as chief of Cleveland fire-fighters today after being in the thick of conflagrations for 62 years and with a record of 30 years as chief of the Cleveland fire department behind him.

More than 10,000 ordinarily quiet and sedate citizens stood on their chairs and cheered lustily as the old smoke-eater was pronounced "chief emeritus" by safety director Edwin Barry. Wallace received a gold badge and was lauded as "the man loved by all Cleveland."

He will be present at future fires as "chief emeritus" rather than as official director. He expects to keep on fighting blazes and to die in harness.

Zygello, patrolling his beat, chanced to glance into a garage in the rear of a service station and saw Schwartz unconscious form slumped in an automobile with the car's engine running.

Hospital physicians revived Schwartz with an inhalator.

Where is the original copy of the Declaration of Independence kept? Is it on exhibition?

The original copy of the Declaration of Independence and the engrossed original of the Constitution have been transferred from the Library of the State Department to the Library of Congress, Washington, D. C., and are on exhibition. Between two pillars on the west wall of the second floor gallery a niche has been cut, in which the Declaration is enshrined. It is protected by a glass which has been chemically treated so as to exclude all injurious light, and in front of this frame is a colored light by which the document may be seen. A case standing on the floor in front of the Declaration contains the Constitution, and protecting the whole is a heavy marble balustrade.

Who was the best known American writer at the time of the Revolution?

John Dickinson (1732-1808), an American statesman and publicist, known as the "Penman of the Revolution," was the most influential writer at the time of the Revolution. He wrote many state papers, numerous pamphlets and newspaper articles, the most famous of which were the celebrated "Farmer's Letters" published at Philadelphia in 1767. These "letters" had a wide circulation and produced such an effect on both sides of the Atlantic that their appearance has been regarded as the most brilliant event in the literary history of the Revolution. Dickinson's influence waned after 1776 on account of his opposition to the Declaration of Independence, which he would not sign; but a series of papers written by him (1787-88), under the pseudonym, "Fabius," were widely read and contributed much towards inducing Pennsylvania and Delaware to ratify the Constitution.

How large was the largest diamond ever found?

The largest, and in many respects the most remarkable, diamond of which there is any record, was found on January 26, 1905 in the Premier mine near Pretoria, Transvaal. The stone, called the Cullinan diamond from the name of its finder, weighed 3024 3/4 carats, or 137 pounds, and measured 4 inches by 2 1/2 inches by 1 1/4 inches. Its value has been estimated at from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000. This diamond was cut into nine stones and presented in 1908 to King Edward VII to be placed among the English crown jewels. The largest of these is a pendent shaped brilliant which weighs 516 1/2 carats and is mounted in a removable setting in the scepter.

Reapportionment Measures Tabled

Legislature Must Now Form 34 Districts From Previous 36; Swick Casts Vote

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—Tabling of all reapportionment legislation by the House census committee Saturday definitely ended hopes of keeping Pennsylvania's representation at 36 in the House and placed on the state legislature the task of redistricting the state.

The new reapportionment by the committee's action which decreases the number of representatives entitled to Pennsylvania to 34, automatically goes into effect at the next congressional election in 1932. The present legislature will have to form 34 out of the present 36 districts or all congressional candidates will have to run at large in the election.

Representatives Magrady of Mt. Carmel and Kinser of Lancaster voted against tabling the bills in the committee, while the state's third member of the committee, Representative Swick of Beaver Falls, cast an affirmative vote.

Auto Show Is Brought To End

Good Crowd In Attendance On Closing Night Of Successful Exhibition

New Castle's fourth annual auto show was brought to close Saturday evening, ringing down the curtain on one of the most successful exhibitions ever staged under the auspices of the New Castle Auto Dealers Association.

Although the attendance Saturday night was not as great as it had been the two previous evenings, it exceeded the crowd of a year ago. The same program was carried out, and deep interest was manifested in the fashion revues staged under the direction of W. R. Short of the New Castle Dry Goods Company, which company furnished the creations shown by the various models. The shoes were from the Economy Shoe Company.

Local dealers reported a deeper interest in the various cars exhibited this year than ever before, and a number of sales were made on the floor of the show.

Salvation Army Services Prove Most Interesting

A Number Of Persons Profess Conversion At Sunday Evening Service

Special services being conducted by the Salvation Army in its "On To Pentecost Campaign" over the week end centered about the observance of the annual Prison Day services of the Army and this added much to the interest of the services held at the hall at 34 West Washington street.

At the Saturday evening service in charge of Ensign V. Thomsen, the question was asked as to how many of the men in the audience had been in prison at some time or other. More than half the men in the audience raised their hands.

One of the group was a man who admitted having been in prison twenty-six times in traveling about thirty-six states. He had been located in this city for some time and was converted here and since his conversion has been leading a life that is above reproach.

This service was a free and easy service in which all could participate, and the program included songs, recitations and talks. Rev. F. Tyler brought the message.

The service brought out the fact that the Salvation Army conducts a Sunday School service in many of the prisons of the land and has organized the Brighter Day League among life termers. A correspondence is maintained through the army between the men in the various prisons. One of the requirements of the organization is that the members must read their Bibles each day and do a kind act to some fellow prisoner each day.

At the services Sunday evening Ensign and Mrs. B. Kirkman and Captain Garrison of Youngstown were the special speakers. The service was featured by the enrollment of new members by Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge. Mrs. John Wink and Mrs. Rigby rendered special selections and five persons came forward to the altar. Many hands were raised for prayer. The special services will continue through the week and close next Sunday.

Hope To Succeed In Capping Big Gas Well Today

Gas Gusher Continues To Flow—Efforts Made To End Siege Today

"CHRISTMAS TREE" METHOD IS USED

(International News Service)
WELLSBORO, Pa., Mar. 2.—Well into its second week of unbridled flow, the Meeker natural gas gusher near here today continued to roar forth 150,000,000 cubic feet of gas while experts went into the last phases of capping the unharnessed giant.

With the 5-inch casing laid, workmen expected today to set the cement which will be poured between the casing sheets to stop the pressure of the escaping gas. Into the proceedings came the "Christmas Tree," a giant 4-ton tool which slips over the top of the casing and centers the cap against the pressure of the gas.

So-called from its array of pipes and valves, the "Christmas Tree" is used to gradually stem the flow of gas by closing of one valve at a time and constant reduction of pressure. Throughout Sunday, the experts who have capped gassers in the Oklahoma and Texas oil fields, worked on despite snow and sleet to set the casing. Most of the case has been run, workers reported today, and if cement is set, the work of capping the gusher will be virtually ended.

No odor of gas is now noticeable at the mouth of the gusher, so great is the pressure behind the flow that the escaping gas is shot up in the air, at an estimated velocity of 200 miles an hour, creating a vacuum into which fresh air is drawn.

Upper air currents, however, are carrying the gas for miles and ten or twelve miles distant from the well the odor has become almost stifling, it was reported here.

There is no illness so oppressive as an imperfectly functioning stomach—perhaps not serious enough to many cases to be confining, still severe enough to prevent the full enjoyment of every day life and the pleasure of performing "the daily duties." To those persons who have habitual or occasional stomach trouble, such as gastric hyperacidity, sour stomach, gas, distension, bloating, belching, heartburn, bad breath (halitosis), loss of appetite, we unhesitatingly say "Try McKinley's Tablets." To our personal knowledge, this remedy has relieved and corrected hundreds of such cases of stomach trouble, many of which were of a "stagnant" nature. We shall be glad to give further information, and, of course, without obligation.

Committee Asks Right For Study Of Oil Embargo

Ways And Means Committee Would Study Matter Of Embargoes

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—After killing all proposals to establish embargoes or high tariff rates on a number of basic products imported from Russia and other countries, the house ways and means committee decided today to ask congress for authority to make an exhaustive study of the matter during the recess period.

Oil, coal, lumber, manganese, asbestos and various agricultural products now imported in considerable quantities would come within the scope of the study.

A second resolution proposed by Rep. Garber (R) of Oklahoma, directing the tariff commission to make an investigation of cost of production of foreign oil as compared to domestic oil also was recommended. The commission reported such an investigation recently but it was limited to the Venezuelan field.

The general investigation proposal was adopted by the ways and means committee after Republican members had held a caucus.

The proposal was regarded as an effort to still the clamor arising over the committee's action in killing bills for embargoes on oil and products of Soviet Russia.

Remarkable Service At Primitive Church

A service of most unusual nature was that held Sunday evening at the Primitive Methodist church, at which time the pastor, Rev. W. C.

Tyrell, did not deliver his sermon, and the offering was not even lifted owing to the fact that at the beginning of the service, during the opening prayer, the spirit of the Lord seemed to descend on the congregation and while the hymn "When the Power Fell On Me" was being sung, the members seemed endowed with a spirit of prayer, and prayers were offered by various members and there was a gathering around the altar while several persons appealed for salvation.

The meeting closed after nine o'clock with outbursts of songs of praise.

Bail For Costs Is Asked In Case

In the case of the Youngstown Tent and Awning Company against A. Rotarians Hear Wife Of Governor

Mrs. Pinchot Speaks At Noon Hour Meeting Of Rotary Club

Briefly outlining the predominating reasons for Governor Pinchot's attack on the Pennsylvania public service commission, which she charged with "falling down in its duty as a militant defender of the public against the utilities," Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, here for a Woman's Club address today, spoke for 10 minutes at the Rotary Club luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Pinchot accepted a last-minute invitation from the club to speak. She substituted for Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania state police, detained in Harrisburg by the serious illness of a deputy. The major had been scheduled for an appearance.

At the outset of her short address Mrs. Pinchot paid a high tribute to State Senator George T. Weingartner and the other legislative representatives of the county. "Your senator and representatives," said she, "are bulwarks of strength to the present administration."

She spoke of the existence of a lobby at Harrisburg at the present time, adding that to a great extent it is a public utility lobby.

The wife of the governor spared some utility firms when she declared that "some are operating all right and are only receiving for their investments a reasonable amount of return." She emphasized the point that all utilities are entitled to such a return.

The apparent waste in power production also received attention. She stressed the economy of electric power over coal.

This afternoon Mrs. Pinchot was to speak before the city's Woman's Club at a meeting in the Highland U. P. church.

Review Of Four Cases Involving Oil Are Granted

Will Test Legality Of Oil Conservation Ordered By Secretary Wilbur

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—The Supreme court today granted review of four cases involving the legality of the oil conservation order of Secretary of the Interior Wilbur in which he refused to issue prospecting permits after March 16, 1929.

Wilbur's order was issued under the policy of oil conservation and restriction of output promulgated by President Hoover. Wilbur would withdraw all public lands from the field of prospecting thus suspending operation of the leasing act of 1920 under which the famous Teapot Dome and Elk Hills leases were made.

Capone Will Enter Court In Chicago To Fight Vagrancy Charge

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—Alphonse "Scarface" Capone remained under cover today while legal counsel prepared a defense for his next joust with the law which is scheduled for Wednesday when the gang leader is to be arraigned on a vagrancy charge as Chicago's number one "public enemy."

Capone is at liberty on bond awaiting an appeal following his conviction and sentence Friday to six months imprisonment for federal contempt. Other troubles were reported brewing for the millionaire gang czar as the federal grand jury heard evidence regarding Capone's income tax affairs. Three witnesses already have been heard, according to federal prosecutors.

The pupils succeeded in finding a number of specimens of animal and plant life, which they will use in the class room.

A roaring fire was built by the boys of the class and at noon the children prepared a lunch, which was eaten with much appetite, the hike in the brisk morning air having aroused their hunger.

It was a tired group that returned about four o'clock, but they felt they had learned a lot by the trip.

Plans Proceed For Spirited Religious Drama Tournament

Nine City Churches Entering Casts In Coming Inter-Church Activity

Plans for an inter-church religious drama tournament here, have been completed. Nine churches of the city have entered into the project. Each one of these already has selected a one-act modern religious play and rehearsals have begun. For the presentation of these plays to the public three nights will be used. Three different one-act plays will make up each night's program. The time between the presentation of each set of plays will be one week. All of the plays are to be produced in the auditorium of the senior high school.

The dates of production together with the churches taking part and the plays that will be used are settled and agreed upon. On Thursday evening, April 9, the following churches will present the following one act plays:

Mahoningtown M. E. church will present "The Neighbors" by Zona Gale.

Croton M. E. church will present "Nine O'Clock" by Eve Nicklin.

Epworth M. E. church will present "He Came Seeing" by Hamlin.

On Thursday evening, April 16, the following churches will present the following one act plays:

Mahoningtown Presbyterian will give "The Boy Who Discovered Easter" by McFadden.

Wesley M. E. will present "Bread" by Fred Eastman.

Trinity Episcopal church will give "Behold the Man" by Tynan.

On Thursday evening, April 23, the following program will prevail:

Temple Israel Congregation will present "Prayer in Picture" by Hartman.

Central Presbyterian will present "The Golden Rule in Courtship" by Cook.

First Congregation church will present "The Valiant" by Hall and Middlemass.

The purpose of the tournament is to promote a type of drama which is educational, cultural and at the same time, entertaining. Those who are acquainted with the plays to be presented are confident that the audiences who witness them will depart from the productions richer by experience which is in essence religious because it is the nature of these plays to exalt one spiritually, to deepen ones sense of fellowship with God and man, and to enrich one in the understanding of the spiritual forces which struggle in men's souls.

Clerk Wounded In Hotel Hold-up

Earl Cunningham In Hospital With Bullet Wound In Leg

POLICE SEARCHING FOR HOLD-UP PAIR

Shooting And Robbery In Central Hotel Early Sunday Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 2.—A 17 year old Ellwood City clerk was in Ellwood City hospital with a bullet hole through his thigh while city and county authorities are making a widespread search for a white gunman and a negro accomplice who vanished after holding up the Central hotel, Lawrence avenue here Sunday morning.

The robbery, which netted the pair between $3 and $4 was staged at about 12:40 a. m. Sunday, while the night clerk, Earl Cunningham, 17, of Wayne stop, R. D. 1, New Castle was sweeping the floor of the hotel office.

Interviewed in the hospital by a representative of The News, the youthful clerk said:

"The whole thing happened so quickly that it was like a dream."

County Detective H. Martin Lee said that Cunningham was addressed by a white man who entered and picked up a newspaper from one of the hotel chairs. Cunningham was still sweeping when a negro entered.

The white man whipped out a revolver and forced the clerk to get into the swinging doors leading into the hotel dining room.

During the altercation the gun went off, apparently by accident, since the clerk said he did not offer any resistance.

A bullet bored a hole through the clerk's left thigh. The youth slumped to a chair near the dining room entrance.

The white man and his negro accomplice rushed to the cigar case, took out the money left in a cigar box and disappeared.

Steve Lawrence of Ellwood City, passing the hotel a short time later, heard the cries of the wounded youth and notified police.

The white man was described by County Detective Lee as weighing about 150 pounds, wearing a light coat and light hat, and appearing to be about 5 feet, four inches in height.

Neither of the men wore masks.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS FOR THE RUPTURED

Many a rupture sufferer spends a life time of pain and dissatisfaction with trusses because he has never found the right truss. This is a needless tragedy.

Truss Fitting has become a fine art—as specialized as the fitting of glasses or sets of teeth. The properly selected and fitted truss, applied at the right point and at the right time, frequently serves the same purpose as an operation. But to accomplish that purpose all hit-or-miss methods have been discarded.

Modern students of truss-fitting have found that there is frequently a difference between the actual point of rupture and the point where it seems to be. This difference may be ever so slight but it opens the door to a flood of difficulties including discomfort and danger of serious consequences.

Foremost in the promotion of greater truss comfort and relief through correct fitting is the Akron Truss Company, manufacturers of the world famous Akron Sponge Rubber Pad Trusses. The Akron Truss Company is not content to place its products on a shelf or counter and let the ruptured person or a well-meaning but uninformed clerk take his choice. Authorized Truss Fitters are picked for fitness for the work, and given practical training in selection, adaption and fitting of trusses.

—Mr. Reed Megown of Love & Megown, "The Druggists," is such an Authorized Akron Truss Fitter. See him about any question you may have on the proper fitting of your truss.

Hot Mills Nose Out Mechanicals

Close Game In Shelby League On Saturday Evening—Office Boys Win

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 2.—Just barely, the Hot Mills nosed out the luckless Mechanicals passers in a thrilling finish Saturday night in the Shelby auditorium score 23-21. The champion Specialty rally in the last quarter had come too late as they were subjected to another defeat at the hands of the fast stepping Office quintet score 39-35.

The results of the games do not alter the standing of the Shelby league teams. The Hot Mills still hold a one game margin on the Office and are in the lead for the second round. The former must have two defeats before being dethroned from its present position. As for the Specialty they have yet to win a game for this round.

The Mechanicals had indeed become a team to be reckoned with as they battled the strong Hot Mills cagers on even terms in every period of the game. The score was deadlocked in the initial period at 4 all as both teams presented a stubborn defense. The Hot Mills had the best of the argument at half-way by a 11-10 score. But this was offset by the Specialty that made a tactical comeback with renewed vigor and obtained an 18-14 lead. Realizing the predicament they were in the Hot Mills unleashed its last offensive power in the waning moments of the game to just nose out their rivals 23-21, in a hot contested battle.

Displaying its fine past form the Office quintet took an early lead of 7-6 at the end of the first quarter which they lost at the half again to the Specialty 17-13. The ensuing period was a spectacle to behold as Reilly of the Office leads his team mates in a bewildering offensive spurt which netted them 17 points to 6 for the opponents, the score at the end of the quarter being 30-23 for the Office. In the final stanza it was the Specialty that made a tactical comeback in an effort to win the game. This spurt was made possible because of the new subs sent into the fray for the Office who figured that their lead was safe, and had been right. The Specialty rally was stopped short by the final whistle, the score being 39-35 for the Office.

Much at stake in the next contests in the Shelby league as the Hot Mills is scheduled to battle the Office for the second time in this round. A victory for the Office would give them a tie with the former for second half honors. A defeat would make it much more difficult to remove the Hot Mills from their position, necessitating 3 defeats to do so. One of the hardest battles of the season is anticipated at this encounter and many fans are planning to attend early so as to get seats.

The Mechanicals and Specialty will stage the other game of the double header. The date of the contests will be later announced.

Lineup:
First Game

Naval Accord Is Formulated, Will Need Ratification

Franco-Italian Naval Dispute Ended; Building Program Off Till 1936

(International News Service)
PARIS, Mar. 2.—A naval accord solving the Franco-Italian fleet dispute and providing for slight modification of the 1930 London Naval Pact, thus necessitating approval of the United States Senate and the Parliaments of France, Italy, Great Britain and Japan, has been formulated as a result of negotiations the past week in the two latin capitals. Announcement of the agreement, foreshadowed since the British Ministers Arthur Henderson and A. V. Alexander rushed here from London and later continued to Rome, was made at the Quai d'Orsay Sunday afternoon, but the specific terms and figures relating to the various navies will be withheld until they have been communicated to the governments concerned in the prospective extension of the London Naval Treaty from a Three-Power to a Five-Power pact.

The agreement, whatever its provisions and effect on the London pact, definitely cancelled any prospective Franco-Italian ship-building race regulating the latin powers' naval building program at least until 1936.

Pittston Man Is Slain By Gunman

Leader In Mine Union Circles Riddled With Bullets; State Police Active

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 2.—Ambushed in front of the home of Samuel Lucchino, Pittston city detective whose sensational murder in 1920 sent two men to the electric chair, Charles Lichea, 38, leader in mine union circles, was shot and killed today by gunmen who pumped six steel-jacketed bullets into his body. The slayers escaped, it is believed, in a waiting automobile.

Lichea was dead when police summoned by residents, arrived at the scene. Five bullets had struck him in the chest and abdomen and a sixth in the back.

Police, who began an immediate investigation into the slaying, scouted the early theory that a renewal of mine warfare was behind the shooting. Lichea was a close friend of Charles Calanara, former mine union president, who was slain here several weeks ago a few days after he returned from a trip abroad.

Investigation disclosed that Lichea, father of three children, had been separated from his wife for more than a year. He was believed to have been on the way home when he was shot down.

State troopers from the Wyoming barracks, who joined in the hunt for the slayers, ordered the body removed to the morgue of Deputy Coroner Charles Burns, where an autopsy will be performed later today.

Troop 10—Betty Crane—Hostess, housekeeper, laundress, Wild Flower
Georgia Parker—Hostess, housekeeping, laundress
Lois Marion Smith—Hostess, musician, laundress, needloman, scribe
Ruth Withlatch of Troop 7 First Baptist church, was awarded a first class badge. This is an honor that few New Castle girls have and represents many hours of work in mastering the requirements of ten different, second class and first class examinations. Ruth is the fifth Girl Scout of this city to be presented with a first class badge, and there are but three who are registered first class scouts now.

Last year, Bonnie Christman was given her first class Scout badge. Catherine Cunningham is a registered first class Girl Scout. Emily Parker and Katherine Hopper possess the badge but are not active in the organization at the present time. Mrs. Pauline Gilkey Gregg, captain of Troop 1, was awarded the five year service stripe. Jean Hicks was also presented with this stripe. In the knot tying contest, led by Miss Sara Love and Miss Frances Myers, Troops 6, 7 and 1 received 1st, 2nd and 3rd places respectively. The girls did very well in this contest.

In signalling, led by Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Troops 6 and 7 came out ahead. Troop 1 got first place in the general games, conducted by Misses Ruth Wilson and Margaret Reed. English folk dancing was charmingly given by members of Troops 1, 9 and 12. The girls had been coached by Miss Elizabeth Vance.

A greatly appreciated feature of the rally was the dramatization of the Girl Scout promise, by members of Troop 9, under the direction of Misses Leona Sankey and Rita Edwards. This was put on in playlet form and illustrated the ideas of the promise very plainly.

Camp songs closed the rally. There were about 10 Girl Scouts from Ellwood City and Beaver present as guests at the rally.

Spectators, Girl Scout leaders and councillors agree that Saturday afternoon's rally could not have possibly been more successful in every way. Everything ran smoothly and the New Castle Girl Scout organization showed itself to be symbolized by the word Perfection.

COULTHARD TO MEET COUNCIL

City Anxious To Know What Company Can Do Toward Improvement Plans

C. C. Coulthard, superintendent of the railway department of the Pennsylvania-Ohio Electric Company, will be asked to confer with members of city council relative to the company's program of improvements this year.

Councilman Burns stated that he would like to see County Line, between East Washington and Pine streets, repaved, and a motion for the city engineer to prepare plans and specifications was adopted.

Councilman Stanley Treser remarked he would like to know the attitude of the company relative to the removal of abandoned rails in Long avenue and Hamilton street.

During the discussion Councilman Genkinger pointed out that Cedar street will have to be taken care of. The car company a year or more ago repaved their section of the thoroughfare, but the city failed to do its share of the improvement work.

In connection with the street car company property here, Councilman Reeves requested plans and specifications be prepared for repaving Mill street between Falls street and Stewart Place and Highland avenue from Stewart Place north to Boyles avenue.

Thrills Aplenty As Troopers Get First Horse Spills Here

Spectators at the west side stables of Troop F were thrilled Sunday afternoon when they counted the spills from horseback that sent two guardsmen to renewed efforts to ride Hoss-n-Pepper, the outfit's notorious buck.

The animal was led from the corral by Sergeant Lee W. Stewart. The season's first spill was enjoyed (he said afterwards) by the sergeant after his mount made a frantic dash for freedom and succeeded in disposing of the rider. Private Eustace M. Hughes was another to attempt to ride the animal, but was dealt with in a similar way, being thrown three times.

At last, determined to ride the horse, Stewart and Hughes succeeded in bridling a special bit and the horse was peaceful the rest of the afternoon.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

19. Benedict Arnold—Burgoyne Invades New York

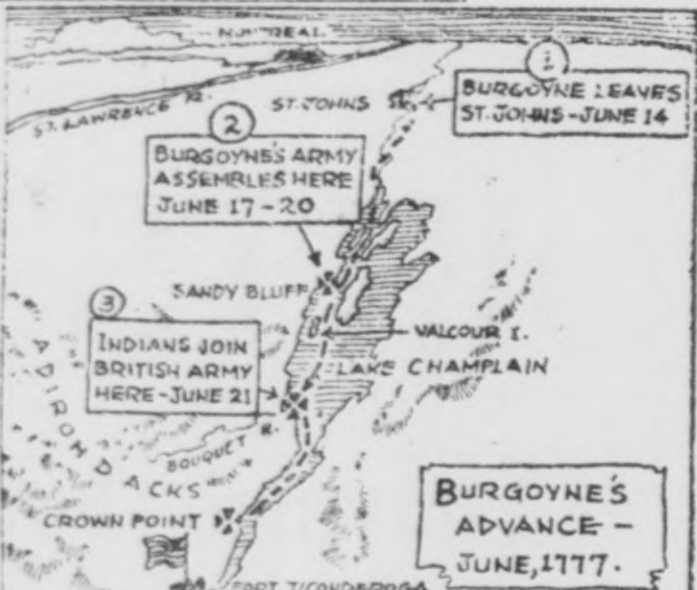

JUNE 17, 1777, GENERAL BURGOGNE INVADED NORTHERN NEW YORK AND AT SANDY BLUFF ON LAKE CHAMPLAIN ASSEMBLED A BRITISH ARMY OF 8,000 MEN, WHICH INCLUDED BRITISH REGULARS AND A DIVISION OF HESSIANS UNDER GENERAL RIEDESEL. THREE DAYS LATER BURGOGNE STARTED UP THE LAKE.

BRITISH AGENTS HAD BEEN BUSY AMONG THE IROQUOIS INDIANS, OR "SIX NATIONS," AND ON JUNE 21 WHEN BURGOGNE REACHED THE MOUTH OF THE BOUQUET HE WAS JOINED BY 400 REDSKINS, hideously painted and EAGER TO FALL UPON THE SETTLEMENTS OF NORTHERN NEW YORK.

SEVERAL DAYS WERE SPENT HERE WHILE THE BRITISH MADE FINAL PREPARATIONS FOR THE ATTACK ON FORT TICONDEROGA, THEIR FIRST OBJECTIVE. AT NIGHT THE FOREST RANG WITH BLOOD-CURDLING WAR WHOOPS AS THE PAINTED SAVAGES STAMPED AND LEAPED ABOUT THEIR FIRES IN THE FIERCE FRENZY OF THE WAR DANCE.

JUNE 25 BURGOGNE RESUMED HIS ADVANCE, HIS MOTLEY FLOTILLA OF SLOOPS, YAWLS, WHALEBOATS AND CANOES DOTTING THE BROAD, PLACID SURFACE OF THE LAKE. THE NEXT DAY HE ARRIVED AT CROWN POINT ONLY TEN MILES BELOW TICONDEROGA.

Titans Again District Basketball Champs

Westminster Trims Geneva Team 38-22, Are Crowned Champs

Westminster Floor Team Again Wins Tri-State Conference Title

Brownlee And Kocheran Star As Titans Take Decisive Victory Over Geneva

Westminster's towering Titans closed their 1930-31 home basketball season Saturday night at New Wilmington by defeating Geneva college 38 to 22. The Titans won the Tri-State Conference title. The championship was "in the bag" before the game, but at the conclusion the fans were sure that the United Presbyterians were the class of the district and conference. It was a decisive victory for the blue and white team that earlier in the year lost to Geneva down in New Brighton.

The defeat of Bethany by Westminster Friday night at Bethany automatically gave the Westminster team the title, but the Geneva game had been ballyhooed as a championship affair and the Titans did everything possible to make it look like one. Geneva's margin of victory over the Titans at New Brighton was slim, whereas the blue and white passers almost doubled the score on the Covenanters up at New Wilmington. Geneva holds the only victory over Westminster this year.

Brownlee is Star

Big "Bud" Brownlee was again the shining light in the Westminster offensive with six baskets to his credit before giving way to Arthur. Mike Kocheran ran Brownlee a close second with four buckets, while Captain Phil Rice, Douglass and Considine dropped two through the net. Marsh Fisher, the stonewall guard of the Titan team, played his final game for Westminster against Geneva and ended his college career in a blaze of glory. His man didn't score a point from the field. Cliff Aultman, former Akron high boy, was the works for Geneva and won himself a Tri-State conference mythical berth by his clever work at guard. He also dropped through three baskets.

The Geneva team started out like they meant business and after Fair had dropped through a couple of fouls to give the Genevians a 2 to 0 lead, Mike Kocheran dropped a bucket for the Titans and the battle was on. The lead saw-sawed back and forth for the first eight minutes of the game with the Geneva team leading 8 to 7. Brownlee caged the basket that put the Titans in the lead that was to be theirs for the remainder of the ball game.

Titans Take Lead.

Brownlee's basket made the count 9 to 8 and after that it was all Westminster. With 12 minutes of the game gone Westminster led 13 to 8. At the end of the first half the Titans had a lead of 24 to 12. Brownlee had four baskets, Kocheran three and Rice two for the first half. Aultman and Montgomery had the only field goals for the invaders.

Geneva was slipping; only a poor exhibition by the Titans in the final half of the game would cause them to lose. This was the opinion of the fans, but the Westminster boys had no intention of allowing their lead to slip; they didn't go to pieces, but kept on plugging.

Billy Douglass served notice that the Titans meant business when the second half got under way by jumping one in from under the basket after taking a pretty pass. Kocheran hung up a field goal that sent the score to 27 to 12 before Sole could tally for Geneva.

Douglass-Fisher Chased.

With five minutes of the half gone Billy Douglass committed his fourth personal foul and retired in favor of Danny Considine. Aultman shot a lone one and followed up with a foul to make the score 27 to 17. Kocheran and Brownlee got baskets in rapid order that gave the Titans a 31 to 17 lead. Considine followed with two baskets that gave the Titans a very substantial lead, 35 to 17 more than doubling the count. The subs started to drift into the game. Martin replaced Manning for Geneva.

Geneva, Siljander relieved Considine for Westminster and Lyons replaced Fair for Geneva. Marsh Fisher went out on four personal fouls and his collegiate basketball days were over. Blanner replaced Fisher. Aultman and Lyons gave Geneva 20 points by a foul and a field goal. Westminster led 37 to 21 with just two minutes of the game left. Montgomery and Aultman sank fouls for Geneva to give them 22 points, while Arthur made the final point for Westminster, after the whistle blew, by the foul route. The final was 38 to 22.

The Westminster gym was packed for the game. It was a fine game. Brownlee made certain that he is the cream of centers in the conference by his uncanny exhibition. Westminster's attack was clicking like clock-work. Geneva didn't get very near the basket, the majority of their baskets being long shots.

The summary:

Westminster 38: Geneva 22
Kocheran F Manning
Douglass F Fair
Brownlee C Sole
Fisher G Montgomery
Rice G Aultman
Subs—Westminster: Siljander, Hamas, Considine, Arthur, Blanner, Geneva: Graham, Martin, Lyons.
Field goals—Brownlee 6, Kocheran 4, Rice 2, Considine 2, Douglass 2, Sole, Aultman 3, Montgomery, Graham, Lyons.
Fouls—Westminster 6 out of 10, Geneva 8 out of 11.
Referee—Kummer.
Umpire—Waite.
Time of halves—20 minutes.

ATTEND MEETING OF STAFF IN AKRON

Terminal Trainmaster J. L. Thoman, of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, accompanied by Trainmaster W. M. Mort are in Akron today, attending a divisional staff meeting.

Now that some of the universities are counting their coaches as faculty members we shall probably hear of the absent-minded coach who forgot to announce his best players were injured—The Oakland Tribune.

New Stars in Athletic Constellation

Uncle Sam will have plenty of track and field material for the 1932 Olympics, at Los Angeles, judging from the performances of some of the newer stars competing in the indoor meets this winter. There is Percy Beadd, of Alabama Polytechnic, who broke the world's indoor record for the 70-yard hurdles by doing the distance in 8:05 seconds at the National A. A. U. meet. Carl Coan, U. of P.'s great miler, has created a sensation on each appearance. Another new record holder is young George Spitz, of New York University, who set the mark at 6 feet, 7 1/2 inches in the high jump event at the Millrose games in New York. Ira Singer, also of N. Y. U., is a worthy team mate. Judging from his indoor performances he will be one of the sprint sensations during the outdoor season. Singer has several times done the hundred in 9:4-5 seconds. Ray Chapman, Bates' great half-miler, is another who has been setting a swift pace for the indoor boys. With this array of youthful talent, the passing of some of the old standbys should not worry Uncle Sam very much.

SPYING ON SPORTS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Central Press Sports Editor

The heroic battle for life waged by Byron Bancroft Johnson, former American league president, amazing to his physicians in St. John's hospital, St. Louis, Mo., is not surprising to those who have followed the man through his career. All his life Johnson has been a fighter, a great and courageous fighter, and he couldn't quit easily now.

Shrunk, sadly weakened by the ravages of his long illness, Ban Johnson these recent days has fought through crisis after crisis, overcoming each desperate relapse by a surprising rally born only of his magnificent vitality.

Old Man Time picked a tartar when he tried to run down Johnson. You can't lick a man who won't be licked, though you be the Old Reaper, himself.

Ban Johnson—up to his retirement because of illness in 1927—was one of baseball's greatest personalities. First becoming interested in the game as a sport writer, Johnson found himself elected the poorly paid president of a poverty-stricken minor league. Others might have regarded the post as a joke but not Johnson. He strove mightily to make something worth while out of his league.

Came 1899 and his chance. As president of the Western league, Johnson and Charlie Comiskey, then owner of the St. Paul Minn. club of the Western, formed their plan to create another league in 1900, to be called the American.

The National had cut its circuit from 12 to eight clubs, leaving Washington, Cleveland, Baltimore and Louisville out in the cold. Johnson and his associates put a club in Cleveland, invaded Chicago and organized clubs in Detroit, Indianapolis, Kansas City, Milwaukee, Minneapolis and Buffalo.

During the next three years Johnson invaded such National league strongholds as Boston, St. Louis, Philadelphia and New York, added Washington, kept Chicago and Cleveland in his circuit and declared his league was now a major baseball organization.

Of course, the National league fought him furiously, but he won. He decided the operation of ball parks needed reforms—fought for them and won.

Together with the National league Johnson and his associates fought the Federal league and won. When the national commission which consisted of Johnson, President John Heydler of the National, and Garry Herrmann of Cincinnati was established in 1921 and Judge K. M. Landis substituted as baseball's high commissioner, Johnson suffered his first serious defeat.

He was hard hit. The power of the strongest man in baseball, Ban Johnson, was broken. His retirement, which came in 1927, was then inevitable.

Shortly before Johnson's retirement his greatest battle, his war with ill health, began.

The struggle has been fearfully exhausting, the foe implacable, the odds greatly against him. The years have turned on this youthful spirit, Ban Johnson, who has been one of baseball's benefactors. But he's still on base and the side's not yet out!

ST. PETERSBURG.—When Babe Ruth steps out on the field today he will find the New York Yankees almost complete. Lou Gehrig, first baseman, arrived today and Tony Lazzeri is expected this afternoon. Pipiras and Ruffing, pitchers, who are ill, were expected to be the only absentees after today.

If Reynolds, who hit .359 last season ranking fourth in the league, fails to show up today he will be definitely classed as a renegade. Four or five still unaccounted for players are due here today.

AVALEO, CAL.—Rogers Hornsby's display of speed both on and off the base line in yesterday's 6 to 4 victory over the Scrubs convinced followers of the Chicago Cubs that the new manager is in excellent trim. Hornsby has announced that he will play every game of the season at second base and yesterday's tilt was the first opportunity to scrutinize the actual condition of the new pilot.

PASO ROBLES, CAL.—Training drills at the Pirates' camp were held to one-day today to give the latecomers an opportunity to loosen up. Outfielders Paul Waner and Adam Comorosky and Pitchers Steve Swanton and Larry French are among the missing. Seven pitchers took turns in the box during batting practice yesterday.

Down in Dixie Base Ball Notes

AVALEON, Catalina Island, Cal., March 2.—"Spare the arm and spoil the pitcher," seems to be the Manager Rogers Hornsby's motto as the Chicago Cubs' mound staff undergoes strenuous workouts in camp here.

Hornsby is giving special attention to his hurlers, this department being one of the Cubs' weakest links last summer.

In two consecutive tryout tilts between Cub nines this spring Hornsby used half of his 16 hurlers and they had to do their stuff in mid-season form with the batters swinging hard.

Already observes profess to see the Cub mound staff as having arrived at a very advanced stage.

To queries Rogers answers an emphatic: "We have no time to waste!" And, evidently, he means it. Maybe the Cubs haven't the best mound staff in the league, but in April they'll be in shape!

Los Angeles natives are showing little concern in the doings of the Cubs this spring. Not even Hack Wilson is drawing the popeyed fans.

It has been discovered that two Cubs youngsters are "twins." Lynn "Son" and Bob Grace were both born on the same day, February 24, 1927. Bud Teachtout, vet hurler, and Leroy Herrmann, a rookie, were born just three years apart.

Major Star Trio Never Played Minor League Ball

By JACK SORDS

Central Press Sports Artist

Totling in the big leagues this summer will be three veterans.

members of that small select circle of ball players the Never-Played-Minor-League-Ball club.

The three are George Uhle, Detroit Tiger hurler; Eppa Jephtha Rixey, Cincinnati Reds' moundsman; and "Frankie" Frisch, St. Louis Cardinal infield star.

Uhle came up from the Lakewood, C. sandlots straight to the Cleveland Indians. He has been in the big leagues since.

The Phillies plucked Eppa from the University of Virginia campus

10 years ago and he has been in big time just that long.

Frisch attracted John McGraw's eye as a college star with Fordham and Frank graduated from classroom to the Polo Grounds.

Though these three are outstanding examples of major leaguers who never had the benefit—or needed it—of minor league experience, there have been a host of star players who played their first games of pro ball as full-fledged big time regulars.

Walter Johnson, now Washington manager, was one of them. Georg Sissler, ex-University of Michigan star, has played 15 years of pro ball but this season, as a member of the Rochester team, he will make his first acquaintance of minor league baseball. Jack Barry, the Athletic star, was an amateur until Connie Mack graduated him.

Others were Sherry Magee, of Phillies' fame; Eddie Plank, Chief Bender and Jack Combs, all famous Athletic hurlers; Fred Snodgrass, famous Giant of another day; Ed Ruhlback, one-time Cub ace; Eddie Collins, now an Athletic coach; Whitely "Tut" and Joe DiMaggio, a great pro baseball career in 1921 straight names when the Yanks were great; Cy Williams, Philly idol of yesterday, and Tuck Turner, Jake Stahl, Red Sox luminary, and Pete Donohue, now a Giant, who started his from Texas Christian campus.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a spit-free of the spit germ.

Pinchot Will Name Sadler's Successor

Sometime After Justice Sadler Is Buried, Pinchot Will Make Appointment

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Mar. 2.—A successor to the late Justice Sylvester B. Sadler, of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, will be appointed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot to fill the place on the supreme bench, but no appointment will be made until funeral services have been held for Justice Sadler, according to word from the Governor's office today.

The appointee who will take Justice Sadler's place on the high court bench will serve until November 1931, when he will stand for election to a full supreme court term of 20 years.

Gov. Pinchot gave no indication whom he might appoint to the post.

Formal Sentence Is Given Capone

(International News Service) CHICAGO, Mar. 2.—Scarface Al Capone today heard federal Judge James H. Wilkerson pronounce the formal order of sentence that will send the gang czar to the Cook County Jail for six months unless his appeal to a higher court is successful.

He also posted a new bond of $5,000 to secure his liberty pending the appeal to be made by his attorneys to the U. S. circuit of appeals from the sentence imposed when Judge Wilkerson found Capone guilty of contempt of court last Friday.

You're the JUDGE

The Decision

The court held for Zeke Hawkins. The judges reasoned thus: The party who insists that the other party perform his contract must be able to make performance of its own part. Here the firm virtually admitted that it could not get through with its part of the contract even if Zeke had the money. For Hawkins then to offer the money would be a useless act, and the law does not require anyone to perform useless acts.

No wonder "horse sense" is proverbial. The horse knew at first that an automobile was something to be afraid of.

One who a writer can get himself quoted as an authority is to brag on the worth of advertising.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Narrow Price Range Marks Active Stocks

By W. S. COUSINS

International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—The active stocks see-sawed through a very narrow price range in the early trading on the highboard. Transactions in the first half-hour totaled only 300,000 shares, less than half that of last week's sessions.

United States Steel a "demonstration" at the opening of the new week, selling 1 1/2 points higher, at 149. But this was the high price of the forenoon, the stock sliding off to 148. General Motors was a strong spot, moving ahead to 45, while Auburn performed with a 9-point rise to 212. American and Foreign Power featured the popular Utilities with a 2-point rise to 45 1/4 and Columbia Graphophone was pushed along to above 14.

Sagging tendencies in a dull market were in evidence in the balance of the list and the market appeared to be again waiting for something to turn up. Julius Barnes' favorable survey of current business conditions was gratefully received by the bulls, who also were agreeably surprised at the smallness of the Government's borrowing program. Less than $300,000,000 in new money will be required by Uncle Sam this month.

Going into the noon period the market was dull but steady, with the best buying in the Motors. Grain prices were fractionally lower, and Cotton sold a few points higher. Call money was unchanged at 1 1/2 per cent.

Blame Drought On Sap Shortage

Maple Sugar Makers Assert Crop Is Smaller This Year

MERCER, Pa., Mar. 2.—The drought has affected everything. Its last victim is the spring run of sugar water from which syrup is made. Camp owners say that the dry weather has reduced the potential amount of sap.

Camps in western Pennsylvania and eastern Ohio are open, working night and day. Their number in this county has been reduced over one-half in a 15 years period.

TO VISIT SCHOOLS
Dr. George A. Stearns of the state board of education will spend the days of March 11-12 in visiting the school districts of Jackson Center, Jackson township, Pine township and Grove City. He will hold meetings with the four boards which are proposing consolidation of the Jackson Center-Jackson and Pine-Grove City schools.

Favorable action toward this end has already been taken at the meetings of the educators. The plan affects 181 pupils in the first named districts that would be hauled to the town of Jackson Center and 300 pupils in Pine that would be hauled to Grove City.

Dr. Stearns will make a complete survey of the districts and recommend how this consolidation take place.

APPRASER STARTS
County Mercantile Tax Appraiser Kate O'Neil of Sharon has started work. She will make a survey of the 2200 merchants in the county and make return of their tax based on business done in 1930.

It is anticipated that the $30,000 tax of 1930 will be reduced by the 1931 report.

TO TAKE TESTS
Eight hundred eight grade pupils in the county eligible to take the final tests that are a preliminary to the high school entrance examinations are making ready to take this exam April 8th. The tests are being prepared by Prof. W. M. Johnson, county superintendent of schools.

Pupils passing this preliminary exam will take the high school entrance test May 10th to be held in 13 county schools.

FISHERS GET TAGS
Three hundred fishing licenses have been issued. The number is increasing with each day of sunshine. The average issue for the county is 3000 licenses.

Treasury Refinancing Plans Being Changed

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff
Correspondence

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—Under the rates which the government will borrow money this month to finance payment of loans on veterans bonus certificates, the treasury will make a profit of about $30,000,000 annually, provided the total loans aggregate $1,000,000,000.

Secretary Mellon today announced the March financing which will take the form of $500,000,000 in 3 3/8 percent 12 year bonds, $600,000,000 in 2 percent 12 month certificates and $300,000,000 in 1 1/2 percent 6 month certificates.

The bonds and the year certificates will be used to retire approximately $1,000,000,000 in 3 1/2 percent notes and the short term issue to pay bonus loans. Veterans must pay the government 4 1/2 percent interest on their bonus loans, or 3 percent more than the government is paying for the money. Unless the interest is paid the value of the credit left on certificates virtually will be wiped out before their maturity.

Railroad Line Is Forced Out

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Mar. 2.—Payette county's only locally-owned railroad is going out of business.

Built in 1900, the road is four and one-tenth miles long and was used almost exclusively to haul coal of the Washington Run Coal & Coke company to the lines of the B. & O. railroad. Rare was the passenger on the line.

Purchase of the coal company by other interests and extension of an underground belt system has eliminated need for the railroad.

Elephant-Donkey Are Eliminated

(International News Service)
YORK, Pa., Mar. 2.—Presentation of a Passion Play by the William Penn senior high school here may go forward without the services of an elephant and donkey, both demanded by the script.

The play will be acted by a touring organization, but services of the two animals and the "local color" they lend to the piece may be dispensed with as no one here will take responsibility of any damage the pair may do.

Portion Of Road To Be Relocated

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 2.—Relocation of a portion of the Susquehanna trail in Lycoming county, north of the village of Raistown, has been ordered by the Public Service Commission, to eliminate two grade crossings.

Estimated cost of the work is $61,787, all of which will be paid by the state highway department except $20,000 to be paid by the Pennsylvania railroad. Lycoming county will pay property damages.

Six Cents Damage Awarded By Jury

CHARLESTON, Pa., Mar. 2.—Six and four cents was the sum total of damages awarded to Anton and Mary Mais in Washington county court in a suit for damages. Mais and his wife sued a neighbor, Rosa Wolosyn for damages to their land which they claimed slid away when the defendant graded her lot. They asked complete damages. And the jury returned the six cent verdict.

Norton coughed, long and loud, awoke, notified members of his family and all fled to safety.

(International News Service)
PORTSMOUTH, O., March 2.—State-wide search for three men who executed a carefully planned night robbery of a bus filled with passengers was under way today. The men escaped after looting 22 passengers and two drivers of more than $500.

The robbery occurred at George postoffice, north of here. Two of the men entered the bus as passengers at Columbus. The other man driving an automobile, cut in front of the bus at George postoffice and signalled the bus to stop with his flashlight.

When the suspicious bus driver failed to stop, the two men in the vehicle leaped from their seats, covered the driver with guns and forced him to halt.

Passengers were forced to give up money and jewelry. Ann Graham of Columbus saved a valuable diamond ring and her money when she

HARRISBURG, Mar. 2.—Focal
point of interest for the past
week, the Senate committee investigating Pennsylvania's Public Service Commission today
moved definitely to the center
of the limelight on Capitol Hill
with Governor Gifford Pinchot
slated to appear before it this
afternoon.

Decision of the Chief Executive
to appear before the probe body and,
in all likelihood, reiterate the
charges against the Commission he
made during his campaign, was announced Saturday. Previously, the Governor was slated to appear before the Senate body a week ago, but changed his mind and deferred his
action.

When he appears before the investigators this afternoon, Governor Pinchot will not be called upon to
answer questions of committee members or of C. J. Hepburn, counselor
for the probe body.

Written Statement
He will present what material he
wishes to bring before the probers
in the form of a written statement,
and aside from that, will probably
add little to the mass of testimony
and information which has been laid before the Senate quiz body
during its sessions.

Manner of the appearance of the Governor was determined in a let-

PA NEWS OBSERVES

One of those debatable subjects
if you care to get in an argument:
"Did March come in like a lamb or
a lion?"

Quite a number of New Castle
drivers had to leave the car in the garage yesterday, due to the fact
that their new driver's license card
had not been received.

Local streams have dropped rapidly, during the past week, following
the short rainy spell during the
middle of the month. The Shenango
river has dropped two feet in the last ten days from the high mark
of seven feet registered week before
last.

Something should be done to head
off the epidemic of serious fires outside the city. Several houses have been destroyed during the past few days. Extra care should be taken
to guard against fire in homes in
the country districts, due to the lack
of fire protection in these areas.
New Castle firemen have responded
to calls for assistance at these fires,
but due to the lack of water mains,
or adequate water for pumping, little can be done, once a fire has gained real headway.

Water Company Starts Building New Mains In Sheep Hill District

During the past few days employees of the Water Company have
been placing heavy cast iron pipe in
the sheep Hill district preparatory
to starting the laying of approximately one and one-half miles of
pipe in that territory.

These pipe lines are being laid to supply water to about 80 families on Northview avenue, Southview avenue, Moravia street, Moravia street
extension, Martha street, Byers avenue and portions of Good and Beaver streets.

The whole installation will represent an expenditure of about $12-000.

Where large installations of this kind are made, the Water Company
endeavors to aid the particular community as much as possible, and
following this purpose about 20 of
the people who will be employed on
the job will be men who live on the streets in which the lines are being laid.

It is expected that the job will require at least six weeks to complete
and due to the fact that the Sheep
Hill territory is very high up and
the high pressure mains of the company do not extend that far, it is necessary to bring the high pressure
lines across from the Morris street
district.

Girl Is Injured In Auto Accident

Miss Margaret Di Thomas In Hospital As Result Of Harlansburg Road
Crash

As a result of an automobile accident on the New Castle-Slippery
Rock road on Saturday night about
7:15 o'clock, Miss Margaret Di
Thomas, age 17, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. J. D. Thomas of 123 Con-
ter street is in a serious condition
in the New Castle hospital.

Louis Bongivengo, age 23, Miss
Pauline DiThomas, age 15, and Miss
Margaret DiThomas, were returning
to New Castle following a trip to Slippery Rock College where she
is a student. As they reached the point about two miles from Croton
avenue, Bongivengo, the driver observed a truck as he was just about on top of it. In order to prevent hitting the truck he managed to squeeze his way through the truck
and a bus which was going towards Slippery Rock.

The bus had almost passed the
truck when Bongivengo attempted
to miss the truck. He failed and
the result was that the auto hit the truck. Bongivengo was thrown out of the car but was uninjured. Miss Margaret DiThomas was thrown
through the windshield, receiving
serious injuries.

She was removed to the New Castle hospital where the nature of her injuries are undetermined. Pauline DiThomas sustained bruises about
her face. Bongivengo claims the truck was in charge of John R.
Sickafuse of R. F. D. No. 9 and did
not bear a tail light which made
the truck obscure on the road. The roadster in which the three were riding was completely smashed. The truck was parked according to Mr.
Bongivengo.

Sickafuse was arrested later by Corporal Sarko of the highway
patrol on a charge of parking along
a highway without lights.

Davis Is Appointed Grand Jury Foreman

Ivor V. Davis was appointed fore-
man of the grand jury when the
jury convened this morning for the consideration of cases to be presented by District Attorney John

on the list to go before the grand jury. A majority of the cases are
for robbery and violation of the liquor laws.

HARRISBURG, Mar. 2.—Pushed
into the background of public in-

Public Service Commission and the general Assembly will reconvene tonight with prospects of suffering a
still further cessation of attention.

On the heels of the Senate probe
of the public service commission,
which was slated today to hold most
attention with Governor Pinchot
appearing before the Senate body,
the house prepared to start its own,
and the Governor's approved, investigation into the activities of the commission.

Committee To Meet
Late this afternoon the House
Committee will meet for organization and Rep. D. Glenn Moore,
Washington, sponsor of the resolu-

will be made chairman. In addition, the Governor is expected to name his three observers, who will sit in with the house body when it begins its hearing Wednesday with
an inquiry into the Scranton-
Springbrook water case.

Almost lost in the shuffle, mem-

the probing committees prepared to act tonight on the biggest calendar
yet laid before the legislature.

In the House, 29 bills were on first

passage. In the Senate, 5 bills were
on third reading and 15 on second

Fire Destroys New Tea Room

"The Mayfair" On Harlans-
burg Road Is Prey To Flames

AS FIRE DEVELOPS

"The Mayfair" a recently built
roadside barbeque and tea room on
the Harlansburg road, near the
fairgrounds, was burned to the ground Saturday afternoon.

The two-story building of six
rooms was destroyed while the owners, A. J. Crawford, and his family
were in Struthers, O.

Central station firemen responded
to the scene three miles from the
city line, but the blaze had made
rapid progress and the building
could not be saved.

Crawford said the building was worth $10,000 and the contents, all
destroyed were worth $5,000. The estimate is unofficial, however.

So complete was the destruction
of the fire that Crawford said:
"Everything was burned; not even a splinter was left."

Made Homeless
However neighbors on the Harlans-
burg road were today caring for
the Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. Crawford and their daughter, Leonora, 11, left for Struthers, O., to visit Mrs. Craw-
ford's brother-in-law W. Carney, at 1:45 p. m. Saturday. Residents near
the fair grounds declare smoke was
first perceived pouring from "The Mayfair" a short time before 3 p. m.

Unaware of the fire, the Craw-
fords remained in Ohio throughout
the afternoon. Two sons of Clyde Gormley of the Harlansburg road
went to Struthers to inform the

NICE COLLECTION

Attendance Sunday at the afternoon and evening sessions of the Gymnasia Gann or Festival of Song
held in the First Congregational church, East Reynolds street, surpassed all expectations of those in charge and the event was one of
the most successful and inspirational affairs of the kind ever held in this city.

Crowds of people, not only from
this city, but also from Aliquippa, Pittsburgh, the Beaver valley, El-
liwood City, Youngstown, Warren
Niles, Sharon and many other points gathered here and joined in the inspiring song stirring mass singing of old Welsh hymns, which induced a deep religious feeling.

It seemed as though there was no
let-up to the enthusiasm engendered
by the singing of these old religious hymns and after singing continually for two hours, there were those
in the audience who would request their favorite hymn and it would be sung with the same enthusiasm
as those rendered previously. There

Friend Of Slain New York Woman Located At Erie

Miss Cassie Clayton Being

LETTER TO ERIE
WOMAN IS CLUE

Erie Woman Is Questioned
By Process Server From
New York

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN

NEW YORK, Mar. 2.—
Miss Cassie Clayton, of Erie, Pa., was projected into the investigation into the mysterious
murder of beautiful, red-
haired Vivian Gordon,
Broadway "girl about town"
who was found strangled in Van Cortlandt Park early last Thursday.

Miss Clayton was at one time a
friend and confidante of the slain
woman. The last letter written by Miss Gordon—a few days before she
was "taken for a ride"—was sent to Miss Clayton. In it Miss Gordon
described the feeling of triumph she
was experiencing because she was soon to appear as a witness in New York's sensational vice inquiry and
tell how she had been "framed" by
a policeman on a vice charged eight
years ago.

Said She Would Be Vindicated
Vivian wrote Cassie that she would be "vindicated—if it takes my
last breath."

Miss Clayton was to be brought
to New York today under armed
guard to relate her story to Referee
Samuel Seabury, head of the vice
inquiry, or his assistant Irving Ben Cooper. It was Cooper who talked
to Miss Gordon five days before she
was slain. At that time she promised to be a witness against New York's woman-"framing" cops.

Significance was attached to the fact that Miss Clayton was questioned in Erie by Edward G. Perry,
a process server attached to Referee
Seabury's staff—and not by a repre-

Prosecution Of Youthful Slayer About Completed

Mystery Witness Will Be Produced Against Virgil Kirkland In Trial

STATE TO DEMAND DEATH PENALTY

(International News Service) VALPAIRAI, Ind., Mar. 2.—With its last witnesses ready to testify, the prosecution today was expected to close its case against Virgil Kirkland, the former high school athlete, who is on trial for the murder of his sweetheart, 18 year old Arlene Draves, who died at the height of a liquor party at Gary last fall.

Announcement that the state was ready for its final move to send Kirkland to the electric chair came at the same time defense attorneys disclosed that the youthful defendant will be placed on the stand to tell his own story of the liquor orgy last November 30 that brought about the girl's death.

Mystery Witness

It was intimated that the prosecution will produce a mystery witness today who will tell of former parties of a similar nature attended by Kirkland and the Draves girl. The youth's attitude toward the girl on these occasions will be brought out by the new witness as one of the closing features of the state's case, prosecutors said.

Kirkland and four other youths who attended the fatal party are charged with having assaulted the Draves girl.

As the trial in Judge Grant Crum-packer's courtroom reached its concluding week, Kirkland apparently was approaching the crisis with much less self possession than he showed at the beginning. The youth spent Sunday in jail in meditation while the jury of nine farmers and three townsmen observed the day without the privilege of going to church. This precaution was taken to guard against the jurors hearing anything prejudicial to Kirkland from the pulpits.

Commander O'Neil Writes Committee About Big Banquet

Preliminary Reports Indicate Record Crowd Will Be In Attendance

Ralph T. O'Neil of Topeka, Kansas, national commander of the American Legion, has written those in charge of the National Commander's banquet to be held here March 11 and expressed his happiness at being able to be present. He stated in his communication that he had heard from other national commanders that a wonderful event the banquet held here always is. He asked that it be strictly informal so that he might meet all the Legionnaires and their families.

Preliminary reports received by the committee in charge indicate a complete sellout and it will probably result in the sale of tickets being stopped shortly because of the policy of the Legion that there must be a meal for every ticket sold. The limit is 2000 and as this number is fast being reached, it will be well for those expecting to attend to secure their tickets without delay. There are still a few tickets on sale at the Snyder Piano company.

There are two kinds of drivers—brakers and dodgers. You can tell the kind by the location of the dents.

The Up River Land Company sold certain lands to Zeke Hawkins for $1,500. Hawkins was to pay the amount in three equal instalments of $500 each, on the first of every February for three years, beginning the February following the time of the sale. But when the payment came due Zeke failed to pay it. Zeke was in no better condition to pay when the second payment came due, and when the last payment was reached Zeke had still to pay the first.

The Up River company sued. In court Zeke argued that the Up River company admitted that it had no title to the land it sold to him and that even at the time the last payment came due it had no title to the land sold him. Nevertheless the land company pressed the suit.

owners of the Mayfair returned to find themselves made homeless by the conflagration.

Crawford, located at the home of the Gormleys, said he was puzzled on the cause of the blaze. He said neighbors informed him the outburst of flames was preceded by a dense smoke that filled the building.

Neighbors were puzzled by the appearance of smoke from the two chimneys of the Mayfair, since only one of them had been in use during the year. Crawford said that one of the chimneys was an outlet for furnace and fireplace smoke. The other was an auxiliary for chimney that was employed only when a coal stove was used in the kitchen. An electric stove had been used in the kitchen, Crawford said, making it unnecessary to use both chimneys.

Explains Cause

An attempted explanation of the fire came from the owner, who thinks a gas formed by coal in the cellar furnace may have exploded, causing the radiating furnace pipes to become dislodged, permitting the smoke to escape. Crawford said he had covered the furnace fire with a layer of fine coal before taking the Struthers trip.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

"The Mayfair" was built eighteen months ago.

Mr. Crawford said today that he was appreciative of the efforts the New Castle firemen in making the trip to the scene and their efforts to save the building, and desired to express his thanks to them.

was not an instance in which the request for a certain favorite hymn was not acceded to.

In the afternoon and the evening the singing of the Aliquippa and New Castle male choruses was one of the outstanding inspirational parts of the program.

Choruses Join

At the evening session, the two choruses joined together and rendered "Martyrs of the Arena" with Prof. Davis of Westminster college and director of the New Castle chorus, in charge and "Crusaders" with Prof. Clifford Simmons directing.

Both afternoon and evening there were solos, which were greatly enjoyed by the throng that filled the church auditorium and Sunday school room. By Samuel Evans, Prof. Clifford Simmons and Mrs. Brown James, all leading soloists of Aliquippa, also solo by Arthur Eynon of Pittsburgh, a leading soloist of that city.

The duet "Lord We Adore Thee"

by Mrs. D. B. Jones and Mrs. Brown James of Aliquippa, proved one of the best religious vocal efforts heard in the city in a long time. It was rendered with much fervor and religious feeling.

Rev. Rees T. Williams, pastor of the festival church, was chairman of both sessions and handled the program in a manner that indicated much experience and ability. At the evening session he delivered a sermon that added to the religious enthusiasm and interest in the affair.

Aid Mayor's Fund.

At the afternoon session a collection was taken, which resulted in a very substantial amount being secured for the mayor's relief committee. The vast throng of Welsh-Americans and others in attendance indicated their feeling for the unfortunate of the city in a most substantial manner.

In the intermission between the afternoon and evening sessions, a delicious lunch was served by a corps of ladies of the church under the able leadership of Mrs. Carl Turner.

Carl Thomas was the leader of the mass singing during the sessions of the Gynafia Gnu and again demonstrated his ability as a leader of mass singing. He was ably assisted by Evan Hopkins and David Lewis. Mrs. John M. Evans was the official organist of the occasion, while William Mitchell presided at the piano.

The devotionals of the afternoon session were in charge of Rev. Clifford S. Joshua, pastor of the Croton Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, while the evening devotionals were conducted by Rev. Thomas Francis, pastor of the Euclid Methodist Episcopal church.

Much of the success of this wonderful session of song and religious devotion was due to the committee in charge, which was untiring in its effort to make the event an affair of more than usual interest.

The members of this committee were D. O. Davies, chairman; Thomas D. Thomas, secretary; Henry T. Jones, Evan Hopkins, Harry Evans, D. P. Lewis, David Lewis, William Powell and Daniel Hughes.

PINCHOT HOLDING SPOTLIGHT TODAY AT P. S. C. PROBE

ter he sent to Senator William E. Baughman, chairman of the State Investigating Committee.

In the letter, Governor Pinchot called attention to an opinion of Attorney General William A. Schnader which advised the chief executive that "in all the history of Pennsylvania" there was no instance of a Governor submitting himself to examination before the General Assembly and its committees or subcommittees.

The opinion also advised the Governor against submitting to questioning or cross-examination at the hands of the probers, holding such procedure "impossible to justify" and not within the power of the legislature.

Greenfield To Appear

While all interest in the Public Service Commission probe centered today on the long awaited appearance of Governor Pinchot, considerable attention was given also to the scheduled appearance of Albert M. Greenfield, of Philadelphia, who has been subpoenaed to come before the probe body.

Greenfield, it was indicated, will be questioned concerning sale of the Quaker City Cab Company to the P. S. C., from which he is said to have profited by almost a million dollars.

The Senate Committee today also prepared to issue subpoenas for anyone named by the Governor in his statement as being able to assist in the investigation through testimony before the committee. While it was not known whether Governor Pinchot would "name names" in his statement, the committee was prepared to bring in anyone he might indicate as being able to throw light on the situation.

STAR LORE HOW UNEVEN IS EARTH'S SURFACE AS COMPARED WITH EARTH'S DIMENSIONS?

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

This old world on which we live has a land surface that in places is made up of lofty rugged mountains or of very deep depressions. The ocean beds, in certain areas, drop down as low relatively as the loftiest mountains rise in altitude. These irregularities seem very great to the casual observer, and yet scientists tell us that if the dimensions of the planet and the contour of its surface were reduced in every detail, relatively, to the size of a ball in a bowling alley, it would appear equally as even and smooth upon its surface as does such a ball, thus showing that the greatest elevations and depressions upon the planet are relatively inferior when compared with its entire dimensions.
